6. Complete the following statements relating to the neuromuscular junction. Insert the correct answers in the numbered answer blanks.

- _____ 1. A motor neuron and all of the skeletal muscle cells it stimulates is called a (1). The axon of each motor neuron
- _____ 2. has numerous endings called (2). The actual gap between an axonal ending and the muscle cell is called a (3).
- _____ 3. Within the axonal endings are many small vesicles containing a neurotransmitter substance called (4).
- _____ 4.
- _____ 5. When the (5) reaches the ends of the axon, the neurotransmitter is released, and it diffuses to the muscle cell membrane to combine with receptors there. Binding of the neurotransmitters with muscle membrane receptors causes the membrane to become permeable to sodium, resulting in the influx of sodium ions and (6) of the membrane. Then contraction of the muscle cell occurs.
- _____ 6.

7. Figure 6-4 shows the components of a neuromuscular junction. Identify the parts by coloring the coding circles and the corresponding structures in the diagram. Add small arrows to indicate the location of the ACh receptors and label appropriately.

Middle School Life Science Judy Capra, 1999-08-23 Middle School Life Science Teacher's Guide is easy to use. The new design features tabbed loose sheets which come in a stand up box that fits neatly on a bookshelf. It is divided into units and chapters so that you may use only what you need. Instead of always transporting a large book or binder or box you may take only the pages you need and place them in a separate binder or folder. Teachers can also share materials. While one is teaching a particular chapter another may use the same resource material to teach a different chapter. It's simple, it's convenient.

Alcohol Problems and Solutions Stephen Gislason, The Problem is drinking too much of the wrong drinks. The Solution Stop Drinking Alcoholic Beverages. Humans like to become intoxicated. Fermented liquid foods that contain alcohol are used worldwide in parties, celebrations, and rituals. It is common for fermented foods to be included in the daily diet. Small doses of fermented foods relax inhibitions and can feel pleasant in social situations. Larger doses are toxic to the brain and disable the drinker. The regular abuse of alcoholic beverages is called alcoholism. The stigma attached to the term alcoholism remains an obstacle to understanding this common problem. There is a tendency to deny or to normalize excessive drinking. The use of alcoholic beverages is woven into the fabric of society and excessive use of alcohol is often considered normal. Ingestion of alcoholic beverage in excess produces many disease patterns involving every part of the body. Even moderate alcohol abuse distorts the personality, emotions, and intellect of the social drinker. The cognitive impairments and personality distortion are a direct consequence of brain dysfunction caused by ethanol and other chemical pathogens in alcoholic beverages. Alcohol abuse is considered to be an addiction, and some argue about calling alcoholism a disease. The term addiction refers both to the compulsive aspect of drinking and also to the harm drinking causes. The drinker harms himself, his family, and the community at large. A reasonable person will notice the harm he or she is causing and will seek to remedy the problem. An addict ignores the harm and remains devoted to ingesting alcoholic beverages no matter how much harm is caused. Intoxication with alcoholic beverages generates behaviors that are regrettable and often destructive. Drunk people do much harm to themselves and others. The main drug effect is exerted by ethanol on the brain. As blood levels of ethanol increase, more and more brain functions are shut down, rendering the intoxicant temporarily demented with inappropriate behavior, incoordination, and poor judgment. Alcohol intoxication routinely promotes fighting, assaults, and death by accident or murder.
