Choice Architecture Versus Price Xiaoling Ang, 2016. We show that changes in choice architecture have a large effect on student loan decisions, while we do not find significant effects of sizeable interest rate changes. We evaluate the effect of two policies implemented in 2010 by the U.S. Department of Education: 1) the requirement that all applicants for private student loans fill out a Self-Certification Form, which includes various disclosures about federal aid; and 2) the prohibition of presenting a private student loan as a default option on a financial aid offer without disclosure of the relationship between the school and the creditor. Using difference and difference-in-differences techniques on a proprietary dataset of private student loan originations from the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau and survey and administrative data from the Department of Education, we show that these changes decreased private student loan originations by 33% at public four-year institutions, 18% at private not-for-profit four-year institutions, and 55% at four-year for-profit institutions. In contrast, we find no consumer response when analyzing a 60 basis point decrease in the price of federal Parental PLUS loans at some schools using the same datasets and similar estimation techniques.

Federal Student Loans Tatiana Shohov, 2004. Title IV of the Higher Education Act (HEA) authorizes the major federal student aid programs, including the student loan programs, which are the largest source of aid for students. In FY2000, the Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) programs and the Federal Direct Student Loan (DL) program supported an estimated $33.1 billion in new loan volume. Several types of loans are available: Federal need-based subsidized Stafford loans, under which the government pays the interest while the borrower is in school; a grace period of deferment; unsubsidized Stafford loans; Federal PLUS loans for parents of undergraduate students; and Federal Consolidation loans. Overall, student loan volume has been increased in recent years, from $24 billion in FY1994 to $33 billion in FY2000. The number of loans being made has increased over the same period, going from 6,483,000 to 8,618,000. The average amount that individual students are borrowing in any given year has not increased as dramatically. This new book examines important issues related to this cornerstone of American higher education.

Student Financial Aid Joseph J. Eglin, Jr., 1999-05. The Dept of Education developed the National Student Loan Data System (NSLDS) to provide good data to ensure that program funds are awarded appropriately and loans are repaid promptly. This report addresses schools' use of NSLDS. Specifically, it 1) determines the extent to and purposes for which schools are using NSLDS, 2) identifies any problems these schools are having and the benefits they are getting from using the system, 3) determines why some schools are not using NSLDS, and 4) describes the extent to which the Dept of Education is taking or plans to take steps to ensure that schools are fully using NSLDS.

Federal Student Loans Made Under the Federal Family Education Loan Program and the William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program David P. Smole, 2013-03-13. The William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan (DL) program, authorized under Title IV Part D of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (HEA) as amended, is the primary federal student loan program administered by the U.S. Department of Education (ED). The program makes available loans to undergraduate and graduate students and the parents of dependent undergraduate students to help them finance their postsecondary education expenses. The following types of loans are currently offered through the DL program: Subsidized Stafford Loans for undergraduate students, Unsubsidized Stafford Loans for undergraduate and graduate students, PLUS Loans for graduate students and the parents of dependent undergraduate students, and Consolidation Loans through which borrowers may combine multiple loans into a single loan. For FY2013, ED estimates that 22.5 million loans, not including Consolidation Loans, totaling 120.8 billion, will be made to students and their parents through the DL program. Until July 1, 2010, Subsidized

Stafford Loans Unsubsidized Stafford Loans PLUS Loans and Consolidation Loans were also available through the Federal Family Education Loan FFEL program authorized under Title IV Part B of the HEA The SAFRA Act part of the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 HCERA P L 111 152 terminated the authority to make new loans under the FFEL program after June 30 2010 While new loans may no longer be made through the FFEL program approximately 289 billion in FFEL program loans are outstanding and are due to be repaid over the coming years FFEL and DL program loans are low interest loans with maximum interest rates for each type of loan established by statute Subsidized Stafford Loans are unique in that they are only available to undergraduate students demonstrating financial need With certain exceptions the federal government pays the interest that accrues on Subsidized Stafford Loans while the borrower is enrolled in school on at least a half time basis during a six month grace period thereafter and during periods of authorized deferment Unsubsidized Stafford Loans and PLUS Loans are available to borrowers irrespective of their financial need and borrowers are responsible for paying all the interest that accrues on these loans FFEL and DL program loans have terms and conditions that may be more favorable to borrowers than private and other non federal loans These beneficial terms and conditions include interest rates that are often lower than rates that might be obtained from other lenders opportunities for repayment relief through deferment and forbearance loan consolidation and several loan forgiveness programs In the recent years numerous changes were made to the terms and conditions of DL program loans The Budget Control Act of 2011 BCA P L 112 25 eliminated the availability of Subsidized Stafford Loans to graduate and professional students for periods of instruction beginning on or after July 1 2012 and terminated the availability of certain repayment incentives for loans made on or after July 1 2012 The Consolidated Appropriations Act FY2012 P L 112 74 eliminated interest subsidies during the six month post enrollment grace period on Subsidized Stafford Loans disbursed between July 1 2012 and June 30 2014 The Moving Ahead for Progress in the 21st Century Act MAP 21 P L 112 141 lowered the interest rate from 6 8% to 3 4% on Subsidized Stafford Loans made between July 1 2012 and June 30 2013 Also for individuals who are new borrowers on or after July 1 2013 MAP 21 restricted both the period during which individuals may borrow Subsidized Stafford Loans and the period during which the in school interest subsidy may be provided to 150% of the published length of their educational program The Verification Guide for the Federal Student Financial Aid Programs ,1997 Indentured Students Elizabeth Tandy Shermer,2021-08-03 It is widely understood that student loan assistance has inflated college tuition student debt and lender profits Less often recognized is that these outcomes were intended Elizabeth Tandy Shermer uncovers the history of federal student loans showing that they were designed to appease constituencies opposed to affordable higher education Bait and Switch Robert H. Scott, III,Joseph N. Patten,Kenneth Mitchell,2023-11-08 This book traces how the student loan system has created insurmountable student debt traps for millions of student borrowers contrary to its original purpose of promoting social mobility Today approximately 45 million Americans hold over 1 7 trillion in student loan debt with over 20% of borrowers in default Student loan debt has the greatest negative impact of wealth poor students with Black and first generation students less likely to attain a college degree more likely to default on student loan debt and less likely to gain the same type of wage premium from their college degrees than white student loan borrowers The book also offers a wide range of policy solutions for remedying the student loan debt crisis Student Debt and the Siren Song of Systemic Risk Jonathan Glater, 2015 This Article analyzes the dangerous effects of restricting federal student aid which aims to expand college access in response to fear of a student loan bubble that could cause a future financial crisis Scholars and pundits have suggested that increases in student debt resemble the expansion of mortgage borrowing in the years before the 2008 financial crisis and that higher default rates on student loans contribute to risk of a similar financial calamity in the future The Article identifies the analogy's potentially pernicious effects given the popular narratives attached to mortgage borrowers who defaulted on their debts in the period leading up to and following the financial crisis Critics of government policies that made homeownership more accessible to poor and minority buyers blamed borrowers whom they characterized as greedy and foolish Applying such reasoning to student debt would imply that access to education loans should be limited a development utterly at odds with the purpose of the Higher Education Act of 1965 Thus those likening student loans to home loans sing a siren song that could mislead lawmakers who for decades have sought to use federal aid to make higher education more accessible regardless of students financial resources Further the Article's analysis shows that student loans and home loans differ in ways that make it unlikely that defaults could contribute to a crisis
