Mistry is recognised as one of the most important contemporary writers of postcolonial literature. This study, the first of its kind, will provide scholars and students with an insight into the key features of Mistry's work. Peter Morey suggests how the author's writing can be read in terms of recent Indian political history, his native Zoroastrian culture and ethos, conventions of oral storytelling common to Persia and South Asia, and the experience of migration which now sees him living in Canada. The texts are viewed through the lens of diaspora and minority discourse theories to show how Mistry's writing is illustrative of marginal positions in relation to sanctioned national identities. Interpreting Homes in South Asian Literature Malashri Lal, Sukrita Paul Kumar, The search for the location in which the self is at home has been one of the primary projects of modern literature all over the world. Interpreting Homes in South Asian Literature attempts to map the narratives of the home in South Asian literature from the advance of modernity on the subcontinent till the present day. It aims to read more than the domestic into representations of the home to explore not only the geographical but also the psychological and material connotations of home. Its goal is to disassemble the concept of home in all its incarnations as confinement, as stability, as security, as myth, and as desire. The book problematises home and its experience in different contexts. It investigates if and how home changes its significations when articulated from different locations in different languages and by different subjects, paying particular attention to ideological determinants like gender and class. The editors of the anthology have encouraged contributors to also address diaspora writing and to achieve the widest possible comparative perspective. Though the focus has been kept on literature, some papers deal with cultural narratives of home in oral and folk mediums. The collection comprises of an Introduction and 18 original essays divided into six thematic sections.

Diasporic Subjectivity and Cultural Brokering in Contemporary Post-Colonial Literatures Igor Maver,2009-06-16

Diasporic writing simultaneously asserts a sense of belonging and expresses a sense of being ethnic in a society of immigration The essays in this volume explore how contemporary diasporic writers in English use their works to mediate this dissonance and seek to work through the ethical political and personal affiliations of diasporic identities and subjectivities The essays call for a remapping of post colonial literatures and a reevaluation of the Anglophone literary canon by including post colonial diasporic literary discourses Demonstrating that an intercultural dialogue and constant cultural brokering are a must in our post colonial world this volume is a valuable contribution to the ongoing discourse on post colonial diasporic literatures and identities
