Study Guide

BIG PICTURE IDEAS

- #1. In 1517, Martin Luther wrote his critiques against the Catholic Church in a document called the 95 Theses. This ushered in a new religious movement, which is now best known as the protestant reformation.
- #2. As a result of the Reformation, some nations, like France and its Edict of Nantes, allowed for religious pluralism, while other rulers, like the Habsburgs under the leadership of Charles V, did not.
- #3. The Reformation led to religious wars across Europe, including a conflict in central Europe called the 30 years war. The signing of the Peace of Westphalia ended this war and the idea of universal Christendom within Europe.
- #4. New Protestant beliefs continue to add to the "debate about women," and Protestant women were increasingly subject to accusations of witchcraft. Shifting authorities cause local government, rather than the Church, to regulate morality.
- #5. The Catholic Church responded to the Protestant Reformation with its counter reformation, and commissioned missionaries, known as Jesuits, to restore people to the Catholic faith.
