Gender and Early Learning Environments Genevieve H. Brown, Beverly Irby, 2011-07-01 The Research on Women and Education SIG of the American Educational Research Association presents the third book in its series Gender and Early Learning Environments Finding after the publication of Gender and Schooling in the Early Years the second book in the series that there was and is a paucity of published literature on early childhood gender issues the editors determined that one additional book on early childhood and gender issues was warranted in this series The latest book in the series Gender and Early Learning Environments is encompassing of a wide range of topics addressing early childhood influences on gender and development of the whole child For early childhood educators this book aides in making visible and exploring the definition of what gender means in contemporary culture

Effigy Allison M. Cotton, 2008-01-01 Effigy examines the images of a capital defendant portrayed by the defense attorneys and the prosecutor during the guilt and penalty phases of capital trial the trial tactics used to impart these images and the consequences that result from the jury's attempt to reconcile contradictory images to place one in permanent record as a verdict These images are starkly contrasted against the backdrop of a brutal murder in which the stereotypes of American fear are realized Donta Page the defendant is an African American male from a low income segment of society while Peyton Tuthill the victim was a Caucasian female from a middle income suburb The prosecuting attorneys depict the defendant as a savage beast juxtaposing their image against that of a troubled youth as Page is portrayed by the defense attorneys Slowly and methodically developed as figures with diametrically opposed features none of which overlap or congeal both the images are portrayed as real buttressed by the testimony of witnesses rather than constructed The jury is expected to render a verdict that accepts one and rejects the other there is no middle ground
