

An artistic illustration of St. Paul's Cathedral in London. The central focus is the large dome of the cathedral, topped with a lantern and a cross. To the left, the Spirit of London statue stands on a pedestal, holding a torch. To the right, a winged figure, possibly an angel or a personification of the city, is depicted in flight. The background shows the intricate Gothic architecture of the cathedral's spires and towers. The sky is a mix of blue and white, suggesting a cloudy day. The overall style is a blend of realistic architectural detail with more expressive, painterly elements for the statues and sky.

in Light of Bakhtin Walter L. Reed,2014-02-27 Literature and literary criticism throughout the twentieth century are famous for their proclamations of the death of the author the eclipse of character and the nothingness of personality as Borges put it Walter Reed investigates the ideas of personhood developed by one of the most influential literary theorists of the last century Mikhail Bakhtin He finds in Bakhtin a personalism based on the idea of an ongoing dialogue between authors and their heroes in imaginative literature Such a model of inter personality Reed argues allows us to appreciate the rich possibilities of personhood set forth in the earlier nineteenth century period of Romanticism Elaborating a new general theory and providing close readings of classic works of Romantic poetry and fiction Romantic Literature in Light of Bakhtin offers a better understanding of the preoccupation with the individual creative self that lay at the heart of this revolutionary literature that still speaks to readers today Semiotics and City Poetics Mary Coghill,2022-12-05 Roman Jakobson stands alone in his semiotic theory of poetic analysis which combines semiotics linguistics and structuralist poetics This groundbreaking book proposes methods for developing Jakobson's theories of communication and poetic function It provides an extensive range of examples of the kinds of Formalist praxis that have been neglected in recent years developing them for the analysis of all poetry but especially the poetry of our urban future Throughout the book the parameters of a city poetic genre are proposed and established the book also develops the theory of the function of shifters and deixis with special reference to women as narrators It also instantiates an experimental poetic praxis based on the work of one of Jakobson's great influences Charles Sanders Peirce Steadfastly adhering to the text in itself this volume reveals the often surprising hitherto unconsidered structural and semiotic patterns within poems as a whole
