The Baby Of Belleville:

The Baby Of Belleville Anne Marsella, 2011-07-07 Every new mother has a story to tell and this is Jane de la Rochefoucault's. It's a story that contains all the familiar yet magical landmarks of feeding teething toddling and measuring stuff in and out of Tupperware. But as an expat living in Paris Jane also faces some challenges they never mention in the handbooks. Such as how to juggle a new baby with the demands of an aristocratic husband a competitive nursing circle an artisan plumber and a formidably French and possibly law breaking mother in law. Swiftly plotted linguistically playful and sparkling with wit The Baby of Belleville will draw you into its unique imaginative universe and make you reluctant to leave.

The Baby Chase Leslie Morgan, Leslie Morgan Steiner, 2013-11-05 From the New York Times bestselling author of Crazy Love comes a startling new narrative about surrogacy from both sides of the equation the parents and the gestational carrier. Rhonda Wile and her husband Gerry struggled for years with infertility. With perseverance shocking to all around them there wasn't a procedure they wouldn't and didn't try unsuccessfully until they decided to look for a surrogate. Once considered a desperate even morally suspect option surrogacy had started to claim headlines and transform the lives of celebrities like Nicole Kidman and Elton John. For Rhonda surrogacy seemed like an impossible and unaffordable dream until she came across the beaming smile of a beautiful Indian woman on the internet. Within a few short months she had embarked on a journey that would take her into the shadowy emerging world of Indian carriers and the global surrogacy community. In The Baby Chase acclaimed writer Leslie Morgan Steiner weaves the stories together of a nurse a firefighter and the Indian gestational carrier who made their baby dreams come true. Moving page turning and meticulously researched this deeply complex human journey is paired with an examination of the issues religious legal medical and emotional that shapes
