Anon,2014 The Admiralties U.s. Army Center for Military History,2015-10-10 The Admiralties Operations of the 1st Cavalry Division 29 February 18 May 1944 is one of a series of fourteen studies of World War II operations originally published by the War Department s Historical Division and now returned to print as part of the Army s commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of that momentous clash of arms These volumes prepared by professional historians shortly after the events described provide a concise summary of some of the major campaigns and battles fought by American soldiers The skillful combination of combat interviews with primary sources many of which are now lost gives these unassuming narratives a special importance to military historians The careful analysis of key operations provides numerous lessons for today s military students Admiralties: Operations of the 1st Cavalry Division, 29 February - 18 May 1944 Center of Military History,1990 Admiralties United States. War Department. Historical Division,1944 The Admiralties U. S. Army Center of Military History,2016-09-13 GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR Commander in Chief of the Southwest Pacific Area referred to the conquest of the Admiralty Islands as putting the cork in the bottle Inside the bottle was a major segment of the outer defenses for Japan s Pacific Empire a segment which barred Allied advance from the Southwest Pacific toward the Philippines and which protected the Japanese strongholds on the north coast of New Guinea The enemy bases on the islands of the Bismarck and Solomon Seas formed an integrated defensive system Sea and air power linked the scattered garrisons and furnished the striking forces to meet Allied invasion many harbors were available for shipping and a network of airfields permitted quick transfer of planes for support of any threatened point The capture of the Admiralties was one of the last steps in the campaign which sealed off the Bismarck Solomons area from supply and reinforcement denied its use to the enemy for effective air and naval operations and left garrisons totaling over 100 000 troops in isolated impotence In a nation at war teamwork by the whole people is necessary for victory But the issue is decided on the battlefield toward which all national effort leads The country s fate lies in the hands of its soldier citizens in the clash of battle is found the final test of plans training equipment and above the fighting spirit of units and individuals AMERICAN FORCES IN ACTION SERIES presents detailed accounts of particular combat operations of United States forces To the American public this record of high achievement by men who served their nation well is presented as a preface to the full military history of World War II To the soldiers who took part in the operations concerned these narratives will give the opportunity to see more clearly the results
