New York Magazine ,1981-06-15 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine s consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea Radio Rides the Range Jack French,David S. Siegel,2013-11-05 This is a comprehensive encyclopedia to the more than 100 radio programs portraying the American West in fact and fiction heard by generations of listeners from the Great Depression through the Cold War era The book includes both the popular and lesser known series as well as would be offerings that never made it past the audition stage Each entry describes the series the extent to which it was based on actual facts the audience it was written for and its broadcast history The descriptions also examine how the programs reflected society s changing social and cultural attitudes towards racial and ethnic minorities and the role of women The availability of surviving audio copies and original scripts is noted An extensive bibliography and several appendices provide additional sources of information about Western programming during the Golden Age of Radio Resources in Education ,1981 Sports Broadcasting Kevin Hull,2022 This undergraduate textbook provides students with the information and skills needed to be a well rounded sports television or radio broadcaster Students will learn how to write for broadcast shoot and edit video and prepare for all the additional tasks needed along the way NAVFAC Documentation Index (keywords Out of Context - KWOC) United States. Naval Facilities Engineering Command,1984 The Hamlet Fire Bryant Simon,2017-09-05 Captivating and brilliantly conceived The Hamlet Fire will provide readers with insights into our current national politics The Washington Post A gifted writer Chicago Tribune uses a long forgotten factory fire in small town North Carolina to show how cut rate food and labor have become the new American norm For decades the small quiet town of Hamlet North Carolina thrived thanks to the railroad But by the 1970s it had become a postindustrial backwater a magnet for businesses searching for cheap labor with little or almost no official oversight One of these businesses was Imperial Food Products The company paid its workers a dollar above the minimum wage to stand in pools of freezing water for hours on end scraping gobs of fat off frozen chicken breasts before they got dipped in batter and fried into golden brown nuggets and tenders If a worker complained about the heat or the cold or missed a shift to take care of their children or went to the bathroom too often they were fired But they kept coming back to work because Hamlet was a place where jobs were scarce Then on the morning of September 3 1991 the day after Labor Day this factory that had never been inspected burst into flame Twenty five people many of whom were black women with children living on their own perished that day behind the plant s locked and bolted doors Eighty years after the Triangle Shirtwaist Fire industrial disasters were supposed to have been a thing of the past After spending several years talking to local residents state officials and survivors of the fire award winning historian Bryant Simon has written a vivid potent and disturbing social autopsy of this town this factory and this time that shows how cheap labor cheap government and cheap food came together in a way that was bound for tragedy
