Method of Dimensionality Reduction in Contact Mechanics Valentin L. Popov,Markus Hess,Emanuel Willert,2018-08-08 The present book is a collection of open access papers describing the foundations and applications of the Method of Dimensionality Reduction MDR first published in the Journal Facta Universitatis Series Mechanical Engineering in the years 2014 2018 The Method of Dimensionality Reduction MDR is a method of calculation and simulation of contacts of elastic and viscoelastic bodies It consists essentially of two simple steps a substitution of the three dimensional continuum by a uniquely defined one dimensional linearly elastic or viscoelastic foundation Winkler foundation and b transformation of the three dimensional profile of the contacting bodies by means of the MDR transformation As soon as these two steps are done the contact problem can be considered to be solved For axial symmetric contacts only a small calculation by hand is required which does not exceed elementary calculus and will not be a barrier for any practically oriented engineer Alternatively the MDR can be implemented numerically which is almost trivial due to the independence of the foundation elements In spite of its simplicity all results are exact The present book brings together papers covering the most important aspects of the MDR and providing a practical guide for its use

Remote Sensing in Hydrology and Water Management Gert A. Schultz, Edwin T. Engman, 2012-12-06 The authors of this book have been approached by consulting engineers You know about remote sensing and thus you can obtain hydrological information where no data exist even without ground measurements so that I can design the required capacity of a drinking water supply reservoir in a developing country On the other hand the authors have been told Remote sensing is not of much use since it is still impossible to estimate ground water resources or surface water flows from remote sensing data The major aim of this book is to correct such unjustified illusions as well as exaggerated criticism by providing the reader with sound information on the potential and the limitations of remote sensing in the field of hydrology and water management The book is meant to be a reference and text it is not a collection of papers from some meeting The book is intended to provide methods to help the readers solve their own problems in hydrology and water management Therefore scientific issues are presented only as far as they are necessary for the application of remote sensing The reader will see that in some fields e g evapotranspiration soil moisture hydrological modeling the scientific development is still on the way while in others operational techniques are already available e g snow melt run off model land use classification and detection of land use changes flood forecasting and control
