Value Creation in E-Business Management Matthew L. Nelson, Michael J. Shaw, Troy J. Strader, 2009-08-07 Recent economic, political, and technological forces are changing the landscape of electronic business and electronic commerce. Although great strides have been made over the past in understanding, researching, and advancing e-business, rarely have we witnessed its use so profound and yet its limitations so pronounced than what has been on global public display for the past 18 months. As a result, new e-commerce strategies and techniques are emerging. Collaborative value creation is essential, and e-business models are being refined and developed with special attention towards IS in financial markets, health care, and related institutions. It is for these reasons and many more that we are so particularly excited and grateful for the collection of papers included in this Value Creation in e-Business Management LNBIP volume number 36. The papers selected in this volume address these emerging e-business issues and are organized into four research lines: Business Models for the Digital Economy, Electronic and Mobile Commerce, Behavioral and Global Issues in Financial Markets and Institutions, Web 2.0 and E-Commerce, and Collaborative Value Creation. The first group, Business Models for the Digital Economy, provides a closer examination of business models from a rich mixture of segments in the IT industry. They include Hoyer and Stanoevska-Slabeva's business model types for enterprise mashup intermediaries, Riehle's commercial open source business model, Chen's interesting comparison between iPhone versus Kindles in electronic book sales, and Lyons and coauthors' business models in emerging online services.

Crime Files Lu XiaoChuan, 2020-04-21 Police officer Lu Xiaochuan was involved in a strange skinning case when he followed his father to the north. Only when the facts of the case gradually became clear did the crowd realize that this was only the beginning of an ancient mystery. A book sixteen cases showing you the deepest darkness of human nature, making you understand the other side of the world that few people know about.

Security and Privacy in Mobile Information and Communication Systems Shiguo Lian, 2009-09-19 MobiSec 2009 was the first ICST conference on security and privacy in mobile information and communication systems. With the vast area of mobile technology research and application, the intention behind the creation of MobiSec was to make a small but unique contribution to build a bridge between top-level research and large-scale application of novel kinds of information security for mobile devices and communication. The papers at MobiSec 2009 dealt with a broad variety of subjects ranging from issues of trust in and security of mobile devices and embedded hardware security over efficient cryptography for resource-restricted platforms to advanced applications such as wireless sensor networks, user authentication, and privacy in an environment of autonomously communicating objects. With hindsight, a leitmotif emerged from these contributions which corroborated the idea behind MobiSec: a set of powerful tools have been created in various branches of the security discipline which await combined application to build trust and security into mobile that is all future networks autonomous and personal devices and pervasive applications
