This book is about international humanitarian law or as it is also called the law of armed conflict or law of war. It emerged from a series of lectures delivered at the Hague Academy of International Law. The author deals with war and the means by which international law attempts to contain and as it were humanize organized violence. But the ambitions of the author go beyond the battlefield. The book explores the many complex ways in which law functions to regulate warfare in theory and practice. The author looks into treaties and other sources of international law but he also tries to step outside the boundaries of black letter law to deal broadly with such matters as the influence of culture in shaping the norms on war, the institutions that develop those norms and work for their universal acceptance, the networks of humanitarian actors in this area and the legal procedures in which the law of war and its various institutions are embedded.

The book demonstrates that even wars are in various ways conducted in the shadow of the law The Literary Exception and the Rule of Law Johan Van Der Walt,2022-07-20 Addressing the influential analysis of law and literature, this book offers a new perspective on their relationship. The law and literature movement that has gained global prominence in the course of last decades of the twentieth and the first decades of the twenty-first centuries has provided the research and teaching of law with a considerable body of new and valuable knowledge and understanding. Most of the knowledge and insights generated by the movement concern either a thematic overlap between legal and literary discourses suggesting they deal with the same moral concerns or a rhetorical semiotic or general linguistic comparability or sameness between them imputing to both the same or very similar narrative structures. The Literary Exception and the Rule of Law recognises the wealth of knowledge generated by this approach to the relationship between law and literature and acknowledges its debt to this genre of scholarship. It nevertheless also proposes on the basis of a number of revealing phenomenological inquiries a different approach to law and literary studies, one that emphasises the irreducible difference between law and literature. It does so with the firm belief that a regard for the very different and indeed opposite discursive trajectories of legal and literary language allows for a more profound understanding of the unique and indeed separate roles that the discourses of law and literature generally play in the sustenance of relatively stable legal cultures. This important rethinking of the relationship between law and literature will appeal to scholars and students of legal theory, jurisprudence, philosophy, politics and literary theory Proceedings of the Grand Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star of the State of Michigan
