The Age Of Imperialism 12 Case Study:

American Foreign Relations Reconsidered Gordon Martel, 2002-11 Brings together 12 scholars of US foreign relations Each contributor provides a concise summary of an important theme in US affairs since the Spanish American War US policy process economic interests relations with the Third World and the nuclear arms race have been highlighted The British Military Revolution of the 19th Century Daniel R. LeClair, 2019-10-31 From the Crimean War through the Second Boer War the British Empire sought to solve the Great Gun Question to harness improvements to ordnance small arms explosives and mechanization made possible by the Industrial Revolution The British public played a surprising but overlooked role offering myriad suggestions for improvements to the civilian led War Office Meanwhile politicians and army leaders argued over control of the country's ground forces in a decades long struggle that did not end until reforms of 1904 put the military under the Secretary of State for War Following the debate in the press voters put pressure on both Parliament and the War Office to modernize ordnance and military administration The Great Gun Question was as much about weaponry as about who ultimately controlled military power Drawing on ordnance committee records and contemporary news reports this book fills a gap in the history of British military technology and army modernization prior to World War I Explaining the History of American Foreign Relations Michael J. Hogan, Thomas G. Paterson, 2004-01-19 Originally published in 1991 Explaining the History of American Foreign Relations has become an indispensable volume not only for teachers and students in international history and political science but also for general readers seeking an introduction to American diplomatic history This collection of essays highlights a variety of newer innovative and stimulating conceptual approaches and analytical methods used to study the history of American foreign relations including bureaucratic dependency and world systems theories corporatist and national security models psychology culture and ideology Along with substantially revised essays from the first edition this volume presents entirely new material on postcolonial theory borderlands history modernization theory gender race memory cultural transfer and critical theory The book seeks to define the study of American international history stimulate research in fresh directions and encourage cross disciplinary thinking especially between diplomatic history and other fields of American history in an increasingly transnational globalizing world Geopolitics and the Quest for Dominance Jeremy Black, 2015-11-25 History and geography delineate the operation of power not only its range but also the capacity to plan and the ability to implement Approaching state strategy and policy from the spatial angle Jeremy Black argues that just as the perception of power is central to issues of power so place and its constraints and relationships is partly a matter of perception not merely map coordinates Geopolitics he maintains is as much about ideas and perception as it is about the actual spatial dimensions of power Black's study ranges widely examining geography and the spatial nature of state power from the 15th century to the present day He considers the rise of British power geopolitics and the age of Imperialism the Nazis and World War II and the Cold War and he looks at the key theorists of the latter 20th century including Henry Kissinger Francis Fukuyama and Samuel P Huntington Philip Bobbitt Niall Ferguson and others

Environments of Empire Ulrike Kirchberger, Brett M. Bennett, 2020-02-14 The age of European high imperialism was characterized by the movement of plants and animals on a historically unprecedented scale The human migrants who colonized territories around the world brought a variety of other species with them from the crops and livestock they hoped to propagate to the parasites invasive plants and pests they carried unawares producing a host of unintended consequences that reshaped landscapes around the world While the majority of histories about the dynamics of these transfers have concentrated on the British Empire these nine case studies focused on the Ottoman French Dutch German and British empires seek to advance a historical analysis that is comparative transnational and interdisciplinary to understand the causes consequences and networks of biological exchange and ecological change resulting from imperialism Contributors Brett M Bennett Semih Celik Nicole Chalmer Jodi Frawley Ulrike Kirchberger Carey McCormack Idir Ouahes Florian Wagner Samuel Eleazar Wendt Alexander van Wickeren Stephanie Zehnle

Design, Technology and Communication in the British Empire, 1830-1914 Annie Tindley, Andrew Wodehouse, 2016-11-30 This book is an innovative interdisciplinary study of the nature of design as a form of communication within and across Britain and its empire in the long nineteenth century In this period Britain had developed from the world's first industrial nation into the Workshop of the World but how were technological innovations translated and communicated across the imperial territories How were designs turned into reality This book explores these themes incorporating archival case study technologies such as trains sugar manufacture and agricultural technologies Using a four part framework we firstly examine the identification of innovation opportunities and how these translated to engineering specifications The realization of conceptual designs through collaboration and their subsequent manufacture and distribution as finished products are then reviewed Using the authors expertise in the fields of historical and design engineering this study contributes real world case studies to design theory

Science and society in southern Africa Saul Dubow, 2017-03-01 This collection dealing with case studies drawn from South Africa Zimbabwe Mozambique and Mauritius examines the relationship between scientific claims and practices and the exercise of colonial power It challenges conventional views that portray science as a detached mode of reasoning with the capacity to confer benefits in a more or less even handed manner That science has the potential to further the collective good is not fundamentally at issue but science can also be seen as complicit in processes of colonial domination Not only did science assist in bolstering aspects of colonial power and exploitation it also possessed a significant ideological component it offered a means of legitimating colonial authority by counterpoising Western rationality to native superstition and it served to enhance the self image of colonial or settler elites in important respects This innovative volume ranges broadly through topics such as statistics medicine eugenics agriculture entomology and botany

essays from leading British and Canadian scholars presents an excellent insight into the strategic thinking of the British Empire It defines the main areas of the strategic decision making process that was known as Imperial Defence The theme is one of imperial defence and defence of empire so chapters will be historiographical in nature discussing the major features of each key component of imperial defence areas of agreement and disagreement in the existing literature on critical interpretations introducing key individuals and positions and commenting on the appropriateness of existing studies as well as identifying a raft of new directions for future research

Notes on India Robert Bohm, 1982 Bohm challenges the Western view of India as a country of spiritual fatalistic people incapable of launching a full scale revolution that would put them in charge of their own lives

A Concise Economic History of the World Rondo E. Cameron, 1993 This classic book offers a broad sweep of economic history from prehistoric times to the present and explores the disparity of wealth among nations Now in its fourth edition A Concise Economic History of the World includes expanded coverage of recent developments in the European Union transition economies and East Asia

Islands and the British Empire in the Age of Sail Douglas Hamilton, John McAleer, 2021 Islands are not just geographical units or physical facts their importance and significance arise from the human activities associated with them The maritime routes of sailing ships the victualling requirements of their sailors and the strategic demands of seaborne empires in the age of sail as well as their intrinsic value as sources of rare commodities meant that islands across the globe played prominent parts in imperial consolidation and expansion This volume examines the various ways in which islands and groups of islands contributed to the establishment extension and maintenance of the British Empire in the age of sail Thematically related chapters explore the geographical topographical economic and social diversity of the islands that comprised a large component of the British Empire in an era of rapid and significant expansion Although many of these islands were isolated rocky outcrops they acted as crucial nodal points providing critical assistance for ships and men embarked on the long distance voyages that characterised British overseas activities in the period Intercontinental maritime trade colonial settlement and scientific exploration and experimentation would have been impossible without these oceanic islands They also acted as sites of strategic competition contestation and conflict for rival European powers keen to outstrip each other in developing and maintaining overseas markets plantations and settlements The importance of islands outstripped their physical size the populations they sustained or their individual economic contribution to the imperial balance sheet Standing at the centre of maritime routes of global connectivity islands offer historians of the British Empire fresh perspectives on the intercontinental communication commercial connections and territorial expansion that characterised that empire

Routledge Library Editions: Education Mini-Set H History of Education 24 vol set Various, 2021-07-14 Mini set H History of Education re issues 24 volumes which span a century of publishing 1900 1995 The volumes cover Education in Ancient Rome Irish education in the 19th century schools in Victorian Britain changing patterns in higher education secondary education in post war Britain education and the British colonial experience and the history of educational theory and reform The Rhetorical Rise and Demise of "Democracy" in Russian Political Discourse Volume Four David Cratis Williams, Marilyn J. Young, Michael K.

Launer, 2026-02-10 In this volume we focus on the years following Putin's return to the presidency in 2012. This has been a more active period than his first two terms, including the annexation of Crimea and ultimately the invasion of Ukraine. Thus, this period may be characterized as the run up to that war. The core issue discussed in this volume is Putin's redefinition of democracy as the foundation of society and government in the Russian Federation. Putin argues for a strong central government in which unity is characterized as the absence of dissent. In so doing, Putin seeks to recast Russian national identity relying on a vision of Russia as the victim of Western aggression.

War as Entertainment and Contents Tourism in Japan Takayoshi Yamamura, Philip Seaton, 2022-03-28 This book examines the phenomenon of war-related contents tourism throughout Japanese history from conflicts described in ancient Japanese myth through to contemporary depictions of fantasy and futuristic warfare. It tackles two crucial questions: first, how does war transition from being traumatic to entertaining in the public imagination and works of popular culture; and second, how does visitation to war-related sites transition from being an act of mourning or commemorative pilgrimage into an act of devotion or fan pilgrimage. Representing the collaboration of ten expert researchers of Japanese popular culture and travel, it develops a theoretical framework for understanding war-related contents tourism and demonstrates the framework in practice via numerous short case studies across a millennium of warfare in Japan, including the tales of heroic deities in the Kojiki Records of Ancient Matters AD 712, the Edo poetry of Matsuo Basho, and the Pacific War through the lens of popular media such as the animated film Grave of the Fireflies. This book will be of interest to researchers and students in tourism studies and cultural studies, as well as more general issues of war and peace in Japan, East Asia, and beyond.

Greek-Turkish Relations Mustafa Aydın, Kostas Ifantis, 2025-06-27 This book provides an overview of the complex and turbulent relations between Greece and Turkey, focusing on recent developments and the challenges in their bilateral relationship. It draws on a comprehensive array of international relations theories to suggest that sources of instability in the Aegean are found in security relations, identity, and cultural discourses, and patriarchal and class societal structures. The chapters reflect on several questions about the role and significance of constitutive and non constitutive elements in the Greek Turkish policy and social arenas They offer a better understanding of the bilateral interaction and why the Greek Turkish relationship continue to hold the potential for traditional geopolitical antagonism and conflict as well as why it is so hard to escape a security culture of hopelessly unresolved problems enduring security dilemmas crisis prone geopolitics The chapters in this book discuss the historical context including attempts at reconciliation and examine the role of perceptions geopolitics and historical grievances in shaping the current situation The book emphasizes the cyclical nature of relations with periods of calm followed by tensions and crises It highlights the need for a comprehensive approach to resolve the existing disputes including the importance of confidence building measures and a political settlement Overall the book underlines the complexity of Greek Turkish relations and the challenges in achieving lasting peace and stability in the region This book is aimed at scholars policymakers and students in the fields of international relations political science and security studies The chapters in this book except for Chapter 8 were published as a special issue of Journal of Balkan and Near Eastern Studies Chapter 8 was originally published in Southeast European and Black Sea Studies

Cultural Specificity in Transnational Television Drama Elke Weissmann, 2025-08-08 Cultural Specificity in Transnational Television Drama examines two European television industries those of Germany and Wales This book analyses how near global shifts towards the fragmentation of audiences the convergence of media and the transnationalisation of the television industries impact in culturally specific ways It shows that these larger developments in the industries intersect with specific local histories and cultures which influence how the changes are experienced and what kind of stories they lead to Offering a comparative cultural analysis of these two industries and their output and drawing on a variety of methods which include interviews analysis of published interviews in the trade and other press some archival research and textual analysis this book shows that the global shifts in television impact in locally specific ways which implies a continuation and indeed exaggeration of existing cultural differences at the same time as we see increasing collaboration internationalisation and as a result also homogenisation between nations This book presents a unique emphasis on both transnationalising and localising tendencies highlighting the need to maintain analytical focus on the nation in this supposedly post national world It will be of particular interest to scholars and researchers in contemporary television landscape literary and film studies modern languages philosophy and economics

Propaganda and Public Relations in Military Recruitment Brendan Maartens, Thomas Bivins, 2020-11-19 This book represents the first international investigation of military recruitment advertising public relations and propaganda Comprised of eleven case studies that explore mobilisation work in Africa the Americas Asia and Europe it covers more than a hundred years of recent history with chapters on the First and Second World Wars the Cold War and the present day The book explores such promotion in countries both large and small and in times of both war and peace with readers gaining an insight into the different strategies and tactics used to motivate men women and occasionally even children to serve and fight in many parts of the world Readers will also learn about the crucial but little known role of commercial advertising public relations and media professionals in the production and distribution of recruitment promotion This book the first of its kind to be published will explore that role and in the process address two questions that are central to studies of media and conflict how do militaries encourage civilians to join up and are they successful in doing so It is a multi disciplinary project intended for a diverse academic audience including postgraduate students exploring aspects of war propaganda and public opinion and researchers working across the domains of history communications studies conflict studies psychology and philosophy Intercom ,1969
