The Age Of The Maccabees:

The Age of the Maccabees A. W. Streane, 2014-11-16 This is a short history that covers Jewish history in the Near East during antiquity from the 6th century BC to the revolt of the Maccabees From Chapter 1 BEFORE entering on our main subject it is desirable that we should take a brief retrospective glance over that part of the earlier history which lies between the return of the Jews from their captivity in Babylon 538 BC and the commencement of that which we may call the Maccabean period The decree of Cyrus 538 BC seems to have been acted upon with all speed by a portion of the Jews resident in Babylon That portion however doubtless consisted of the less well to do and those who had formed no very close ties commercial or otherwise with the locality in which they had grown up Many had acted to the full upon the advice given them by Jeremiah 29 5 7 and to borrow a Jewish phrase which has been applied to the present case the bran returned the tine flour was left behind in Babylon Thus it came to pass that the returned exiles were the more easily reduced to inactivity by the difficulties which speedily came upon them in their attempts at the renovation of their old home Mainly through the hostility of the Samaritans on their offer of cooperation being repulsed but perhaps in some degree owing to the absence of royal favor on the part of Cyrus's two successors Cambyses and the Pseudo Smerdis the work of restoration was for more than nine years 529 520 BC in abeyance In the year 520 BC however two years after the accession of Darius the heartening which their prophets Haggai and Zechariah sought to give them and the efforts of Joshua the high priest and Zerubbabel evoked renewed energy Darius's approval was obtained and four years later the Temple was dedicated to the service of God

Streane,2015-06-26 Excerpt from The Age of the Maccabees With Special Reference to the Religious Literature of the Period The aim of this volume of the Bible Student s Library is to give the average educated reader as clear a view as is attainable of the main features which are characteristic of Jewish literature during the period dealt with That period though it may briefly be called the Age of the Maccabees embraces in fact as will at once be seen a much larger space We have thought it well therefore to commence by giving a sketch of the history of the period from the Return of the Jews in accordance with the decree of Cyrus till the accession of Herod the Great 37 B C We seek in the next place to estimate the social political and religious condition of the Jewish people during the period dealt with and the rest of the book is mainly occupied with an examination of the literature of the time as closely bound up with the aspirations and various modes of thought which are exhibited in the life of the nation mainly though we cannot say exclusively in Palestine and Egypt About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Reformations in Hungary in the Age of the Ottoman Conquest Pál Ács, 2019-01-21 Pál Ács discusses various aspects of the cultural and literary history of Hungary during the hundred years that followed the Battle of Mohács 1526 and the onset of the Reformation The author focuses on the special Ottoman context of the Hungarian Reformation movements including the Protestant and Catholic Reformation and the spiritual reform of Erasmian intellectuals The author argues that the Ottoman presence in Hungary could mean the co-existence of Ottoman bureaucrats and soldiers with the indigenous population He explores the culture of occupied areas the fascinating ways Christians came to terms with Muslim authorities and the co-existence of Muslims and Christians Ács treats not only the culture of the Reformation in an Ottoman context but also vice versa the Ottomans in a Protestant framework As the studies show the culture of the early modern Hungarian Reformation is extremely manifold and multi-layered Historical documents such as theological political and literary works and pieces of art formed an interpretive unified whole in the self-representation of the era Two interlinked and unifying ideas define this diversity on the one hand the idea of European-ness i.e. the idea of strong ties to a Christian Europe and on the other the concept of Reformation itself Despite its constant ideological fragmentation the Reformation sought universalism in all its branches Ács shows it was reformatio in the original sense of the word i.e. restoration an attempt to restore a bygone perfection imagined to be ideal
