Ugly, Useless, Unstable Architectures Miguel Paredes Maldonado, 2019-11-04 Ugly Useless Unstable Architectures traces productive intersections between architecture and the discourses of Post Structuralism and New Materialism It investigates how their unique ontological regimes can be mobilised to supersede the classical framework that still informs both the production and the evaluation of architecture Throughout its three main chapters this enquiry challenges one of the most prevalent tropes of architectural assessment Beauty Utility and Stability Author Miguel Paredes Maldonado critically unpacks the spatial and operational qualities of these three idealised concepts before setting out an alternative framework of spatial practice that draws from Gilles Deleuze's post structuralist take on the production of the real and Manuel DeLanda's model based branch of New Materialism This book reads and situates a series of spatial works through the lens of this critical methodology to contest the conceptual aspects traditionally underpinning architectural value It posits that architecture can operate as a continuous generative spectrum encompassing a broad range of potential configurations Written for academics and students in architectural theory design and contemporary philosophical thought alike this book should appeal to a wide audience

AA Files, 2004 Wiring the Streets, Surfing the Square Timothy Jachna, 2021-03-18 This book investigates the production of public space in contemporary urban contexts as conditioned by the suffusion of urban life with digital technologies A social production of technology approach is taken to frame the digitally mediated city as a communal social and cultural project Acknowledging the multivalent and shifting nature of public space and the heterogeneity of the urban actors who form it the agency of these different actors in appropriating digital technologies takes center stage The dynamics of negotiations between regimes of control and impulses towards freedom and experimentation the entanglement of the spatial commons and the digital commons changes in the notions of what constitutes membership in a public or counterpublic and evolving relationships between the various individuals and groups who share and constitute public space are all revealed in different actors appropriation of digital technologies in the formation of public spaces and the conducting of public life in cities The book is divided into two sections Drawing on classic and contemporary scholars on public space and on digital culture Section I explores the implications of the convergence of these bodies of knowledge and lenses of critique and examination on the present urban condition establishing a conceptual foundation upon which public space discourse is brought to bear on an interrogation of the wired or mediated city Structured by the core concepts that underlie Hannah Arendt's notion of agency in the constitution of the public sphere Section II is devoted to discussing and demonstrating through myriad concrete examples how different affordances of digital technologies are implicated in the production of public space and in the interplay between urban governance and control urban life and citizenship and urban commodification The topics in this book are of broad and current international relevance and will appeal to scholars and students in architecture urbanism design sociology and digital culture
