Methodological Developments in Teaching Spanish as a Second and Foreign Language Guadalupe Ruiz-Farjardo, 2012-11-16 This book on applied linguistics presents new trends and improvements on the teaching of Spanish. It deals with two major scopes in the field of linguistics that have a crucial role in the development of language teaching in general and of the teaching of Spanish in particular: Interaction and Grammar. The topics chosen coincide with the areas in which the communicative approach to language teaching dominant in European and American language programs since the 1970s and 80s has been the object of most revision In its first part the book appeals both to pragmatics and to discourse analysis to research the specifics of classroom discourse and classroom interaction as well as the differences between interactions among Spanish native speakers and interactions among non natives in order to develop methodologies for the effective incorporation of these aspects to the Spanish language classroom such as tasks to teach interaction or techniques to implement learner centered interactive class dynamics and cooperative learning In its second part this book reviews the pedagogical advantages of language description based on Cognitive Linguistic theory to explain different aspects of Spanish grammar The main purpose of our contribution is to show how taking different dimensions of construal and perspective in linguistic representations into account helps teachers to elucidate idiosyncratic and subtle contrasts of Spanish structure that other views and approaches cannot clarify on a meaningful base such as the aspectual opposition between preterits or the modal opposition between indicative and subjunctive both of high importance for the English speaking student The work selected for this book by experts from Columbia University and from several universities in Spain represents the most current lines of inquiry in this post communicative approach as applied specifically to the teaching of Spanish This book seeks to be a must read for the present and future It tackles unexplored territory for journals and applied linguistics collections have mainly addressed these problems in relation to English language and instruction United States Air Force Academy United States Air Force Academy,1985

Research Informing Practice - Practice Informing Research David Schwarzer,Mary Petróń,Christopher Luke,2011-04-01 Research Informing Practice Practice Informing Research Innovative Teaching Methodologies for World Language Educators is an edited volume that focuses on innovative nontraditional methods of teaching and learning world languages Using teacher research projects each author in the volume guides readers through their own personal journey and exploration of teaching methods novelty risk taking and reflection Chapters include guiding questions vignettes and thick descriptions of classroom based research in an assortment of instructional settings Theoretical issues and an array of practical applications are presented as well as additional research opportunities and guidelines for implementation in a variety of teaching and learning venues While not professing to be a panacea for world language learning this book provides various lines of theory research and practice as they interact with each other through teacher research narratives As a well known African proverb asserts It takes a village to raise a child Similarly it takes a village to develop a master teacher and it takes a community to create an exceptional classroom Throughout this volume authors share their voices experiences and expertise as a means of strengthening the village They then invite readers to embark on their own methodological journeys The text thus serves as a stimulus for further discussion and pedagogical development in world language settings Teachers and researchers are challenged to think critically and reflectively about world language education encouraged to design innovative methods approaches and techniques for their world language classes and ultimately asked to share their findings with students parents peers communities and the village Curriculum
