Sorstalanság Imre Kertész, 1999 Imre Kertész and Holocaust Literature Louise Olga Vasvári, Steven Tötösy de Zepetnek, 2005 Publisher Description Sorstalanság Imre Kertész, 1993 Fateless Imre Kertész, 1992 On his return to his native Budapest from a German concentration camp 14 year old George Koves senses the difference of people on the street Left to ponder the meaning of his experience alone he comes to the conclusion that neither his Hungarian or Jewish heritage was at the heart of his fate Fatelessness Imre Kertész, 2004-12-07 At the age of 14 Georg Koves is plucked from his home in a Jewish section of Budapest and without any particular malice placed on a train to Auschwitz He does not understand the reason for his fate He doesn't particularly think of himself as Jewish And his fellow prisoners who decry his lack of Yiddish keep telling him You are no Jew In the lowest circle of the Holocaust Georg remains an outsider The genius of Imre Kertész's unblinking novel lies in its refusal to mitigate the strangeness of its events not least of which is Georg's dogmatic insistence on making sense of what he witnesses or pretending that what he witnesses makes sense Haunting evocative and all the more horrifying for its rigorous avoidance of sentiment Fatelessness is a masterpiece in the traditions of Primo Levi Elie Wiesel and Tadeusz Borowski Holocaust Literature: Agosin to Lentin S. Lillian Kremer, 2003 Review This encyclopedia offers an authoritative and comprehensive survey of the important writers and works that form the literature about the Holocaust and its consequences The collection is alphabetically arranged and consists of high quality biocritical essays on 309 writers who are first second and third generation survivors or important thinkers and spokespersons on the Holocaust An essential literary reference work this publication is an important addition to the genre and a solid value for public and academic libraries The Top 20 Reference Titles of the Year American Libraries May 2004

Handbook of Autobiography / Autofiction Martina Wagner-Egelhaaf, 2019-01-29 Autobiographical writings have been a major cultural genre from antiquity to the present time General questions of the literary as e.g. the relation between literature and reality truth and fiction the dependency of author narrator and figure or issues of individual and cultural styles etc. can be studied preeminently in the autobiographical genre Yet the tradition of life writing has in the course of literary history developed manifold types and forms Especially in the globalized age where the media and other technological cultural factors contribute to a rapid transformation of lifestyles autobiographical writing has maintained even enhanced its popularity and importance By conceiving autobiography in a wide sense that includes memoirs diaries self portraits and autofiction as well as media transformations of the genre this three volume handbook offers a comprehensive survey of theoretical approaches systematic aspects and historical developments in an international and interdisciplinary perspective While autobiography is usually considered to be a European tradition special emphasis is placed on the modes of self representation in non Western cultures and on inter and transcultural perspectives of the genre The individual contributions are closely interconnected by a system of cross references The handbook addresses scholars of cultural and literary studies students as well as non academic readers Sorstalanság Kertész Imre,200? Kert sz Imre Nobel díjas regénye melyben egy pesti fiú sorsán keresztül tárja fel a második világháború pokolját és egyáltalán saját egyéni identitásának kényeszer tudatosulását immár tizenhetedik alkalommal lát napvilágot. Nem ok nélkül Barta cselekménye nem túl bonyolult. Gyurkának elszáradt viszik munkaszolgátra majd iszonytatóan abbahagyja az iskolát. Nemetszger koncentrációs táborba végül hazajut de egész családját elvesztette a regény megsemmisítő olvasmány. Nemcsak a szerző hosszasan elmélkedik kibontakozó elbeszélői technikája miatt de a megírt neofilozófiai társadalomlektani vonatkozások is. A harmincvéltől visszatekintő szerző a náciizmus minden totalitárius rendszer megdöntő mechanizmusának létrehozóját Vágsorban az egyéni lét kereteinek határait kutatja. Egy székszerelőt nem válassza meg székszerelői helyzetben. A társadalomnak való kiszolgáltatottság ez az egyéni sorstalanság mely a második tekintetben egy egész szeszszintjén nyilvánul az a tanulóval amellyel minden generáció valamilyen formában szembesül és ami miatt ez a könyv a tanulmányi és közéleti olvasmány lesz.

Fateless Imre Kertész,2008-09-04 Fourteen year old Gyuri's father has been called up for labour service. Arriving at the family timber store he witnesses with nonchalance and boredom his father sign over the business to the firm's bookkeeper. Two months later he finds himself assigned to a permanent workplace but within a fortnight he is unexpectedly pulled off a bus on his way to work and detained without explanation. This is the start of his journey to and subsequent imprisonment in Auschwitz. On his arrival Gyuri finds that he is unable to identify with other Jews and in turn is rejected by them. An outsider among his own people his estrangement makes him a preternaturally acute observer. Fatelessness power lies in its refusal to mitigate the unfathomable alienness of the Holocaust and in the strength and strangeness of its narrative voice.

Liquidation Imre Kertész,2005-10-25 Imre Kertész's savagely lyrical and suspenseful new novel traces the continuing echoes of the Holocaust and communism in the consciousness of contemporary Eastern Europe. Ten years after the fall of communism a writer named B commits suicide devastating his circle and deeply puzzling his friend Kingsbitter. For among B's effects Kingsbitter finds a play that eerily predicts events after his death. Why did B who was born at Auschwitz and miraculously survived take his life? As Kingsbitter searches for the answer and for the novel he is convinced lies hidden among his friend's papers Liquidation becomes an inquest into the deeply compromised inner life of a generation. The result is moving, revelatory and haunting.

The Conflagration of Community J. Hillis Miller,2011-08-01 After Auschwitz to write even a single poem is barbaric. The Conflagration of Community challenges Theodor Adorno's famous statement about aesthetic production after the Holocaust arguing for the possibility of literature to bear witness to extreme collective and personal experiences. J Hillis Miller masterfully considers how novels about the Holocaust relate to fictions written before and after it and uses theories of community from Jean-Luc Nancy and Derrida to explore the dissolution of community bonds in its wake. Miller juxtaposes readings of books about the Holocaust: Keneally's Schindler's List, McEwan's Black Dogs, Spiegelman's Maus and Kertész's Fatelessness with Kafka's novels and Morrison's Beloved asking what it means to think of texts as acts of testimony Throughout Miller questions the resonance between the difficulty of imagining understanding or remembering Auschwitz a difficulty so often a theme in records of the Holocaust and the exasperating resistance to clear conclusive interpretation of these novels The Conflagration of Community is an eloquent study of literature s value to fathoming the unfathomable

History of the Literary Cultures of East-Central Europe Marcel Cornis-Pope, John Neubauer, 2010-09-29 Types and stereotypes is the fourth and last volume of a path breaking multinational literary history that incorporates innovative features relevant to the writing of literary history in general Instead of offering a traditional chronological narrative of the period 1800-1989 the History of the Literary Cultures of East Central Europe approaches the region's literatures from five complementary angles focusing on literature's participation in and reaction to key political events literary periods and genres the literatures of cities and sub regions literary institutions and figures of representation The main objective of the project is to challenge the self enclosure of national literatures in traditional literary histories to contextualize them in a regional perspective and to recover individual works writers and minority literatures that national histories have marginalized or ignored Types and stereotypes brings together articles that rethink the figures of National Poets figurations of the Family Women Outlaws and Others as well as figures of Trauma and Mediation As in the previous three volumes the historical and imaginary figures discussed here constantly change and readjust to new political and social conditions An Epilogue complements the basic history focusing on the contradictory transformations of East Central European literary cultures after 1989 This volume will be of interest to the region's literary historians to students and teachers of comparative literature to cultural historians and to the general public interested in exploring the literatures of a rich and resourceful cultural region

The Exile and Return of Writers from East-Central Europe John Neubauer, Borbála Zsuzsanna Török, 2009-10-28

This is the first comparative study of literature written by writers who fled from East Central Europe during the twentieth century. It includes not only interpretations of individual lives and literary works but also studies of the most important literary journals, publishers, radio programs and other aspects of exile literary cultures. The theoretical part of introduction distinguishes between exiles, migrants and expatriates while the historical part surveys the pre twentieth century exile traditions and provides an overview of the exilic events between 1919 and 1995. One section is devoted to exile cultures in Paris, London and New York as well as in Moscow, Madrid, Toronto, Buenos Aires and other cities. The studies focus on the factional divisions within each national exile culture and on the relationship between the various exiled national cultures among each other. They also investigate the relation of each exile national culture to the culture of its host country. Individual essays are devoted to Witold Gombrowicz, Paul Goma, Milan Kundera, Monica Lovinescu, Milo Crnjanski, Herta and Paul Paulsen and to the internal exile of Imre Kertész. Special attention is devoted to the new forms of exile that emerged during the ex-Yugoslav wars and to the problems of homecoming of exiled texts and writers.
