

"Under the Influence" by Scott Sanders

Topic: Literature | Words: 299 | Pages: 1

Scott Sanders uses various literary techniques and skillfully manipulates his vocabulary to produce the necessary conciliatory tone across his essay "Under the Influence." Analogies and tropes are some of the most frequently utilized literary devices in "Under the Influence," although the book contains numerous other literary devices. Sanders' syntax plays a significant role in how effectively he transmits his intended tone in this line (Sanders). Sanders is quite skilled at using words to convey his father's dread, anguish, and compassion.

By describing how his father's alcoholism affected him and continues to impact him today, Sanders uses pathos to further his point. "He would not hide the green bottles in his tool box, would not sneak off to the barn with a lump under his coat, would not fall asleep in the sun, would not roar and fume, would not drink himself to death, if only I were perfect," the author writes of his feelings as a young child. Sanders now understands that is untrue the idea that if he were flawless, his father wouldn't consume alcohol. He is aware that his father was afflicted with an illness, but the emotions he had as a youngster are still present in him.

The media's portrayal and perception of intoxicated persons is one crucial topic Sanders touches on. He claims it is "all wonderful fun" when a drunk individual gets on sight during a film (Sanders). However, if you see a few people in the crowd smiling and suddenly grimace when the drunk lurches onto the stage, don't be shocked; these people are the progeny of alcoholics. This does an excellent job of illustrating how

The Art of the Personal Essay Phillip Lopate, 1997-01-15 For more than four hundred years the personal essay has been one of the richest and most vibrant of all literary forms Distinguished from the detached formal essay by its friendly conversational tone its loose structure and its drive toward candor and self disclosure the personal essay seizes on the minutiae of daily life vanities fashions foibles oddballs seasonal rituals love and disappointment the pleasures of solitude reading taking a walk to offer insight into the human condition and the great social and political issues of the day The Art of the Personal Essay is the first anthology to celebrate this fertile genre By presenting more than seventy five personal essays including influential forerunners from ancient Greece Rome and the Far East masterpieces from the dawn of the personal essay in the sixteenth century and a wealth of the finest personal essays from the last four centuries editor Phillip Lopate himself an acclaimed essayist displays the tradition of the personal essay in all its historical grandeur depth and diversity

Understanding the Essay Patricia Foster, Jeff Porter, 2012-07-25 This is a book on how to read the essay one that demonstrates how reading is inextricably tied to the art of writing It aims to treat the essay with the close attention that has been given to other literary genres and in doing so it suggests the beauty and depth of the form as a whole At once personal appreciations and acute critical assessments the pieces collected here broaden our perspective on the essay as a major literary art tracing its history from William Hazlitt to Joan Didion

Tracing the Essay G. Douglas Atkins, 2010-02-25 The essay as a notably hard form of writing to pin down has inspired some unflattering descriptions It is a greased pig for example or a pair of baggy pants into which nearly anything and everything can fit In Tracing the Essay G Douglas Atkins embraces the very qualities that have moved others to accord the essay second class citizenship in the world of letters Drawing from the work of Montaigne and Bacon and recent practitioners such as E B White and Cynthia Ozick Atkins shows what the essay means and how it comes to mean The essay related to assaying attempting mines experience for meaning which it then carefully weighs It is a via media creature says Atkins born of and embracing tension It exists in places between experience and meaning literature and philosophy self and other process and product form and formlessness Moreover as a literary form the essay is inseparable from a way of life requiring wisdom modesty and honesty The essay was historically notes Atkins the first form to take the experience of the individual and make it the stuff of literature Atkins also considers the essay's basis in Renaissance and Reformation thinking and its participation in voyages of exploration and discovery of that age Its concern is home cosmography to use a term from seventeenth century writer William Habington Responding to influential critiques of the essay's supposed self indulgence lack of irony and absence of form Atkins argues that the essay exhibits a certain sneakiness as it proceeds in through and by means of the small and the mundane toward the spiritual and the revelatory

Service Learning and Literary Studies in English Laurie Grobman, Roberta Rosenberg, 2015-02-01 Service learning can help students develop a sense of civic responsibility and commitment often while addressing pressing community needs One goal of literary studies is to understand the ethical dimensions of the world and thus service learning by broadening the environments students consider is well suited to the literature classroom Whether through a public literacy project that demonstrates the relevance of literary study or community based research that brings literary theory to life student collaboration with community partners brings social awareness to the study of literary texts and helps students and teachers engage literature in new ways In their introduction the volume editors trace the history of service learning in the United States including the debate about literature s role and outline the best practices of the pedagogy The essays that follow cover American English and world literature creative nonfiction and memoir literature based writing and cross disciplinary studies Contributors describe a wide variety of service learning projects including a course on the Harlem Renaissance in which students lead a community writing workshop an English capstone seminar in which seniors design programs for public libraries and a creative nonfiction course in which first year students work with elderly community members to craft life narratives The volume closes with a list of resources for practitioners and researchers in the field

The Seven Deadly Virtues and Other Lively Essays Lynn Z. Bloom, 2008 This volume contains eye opening essays from a pioneering voice in creative nonfiction and composition studies Inspirational educator and writer Bloom brings to fore the trials and triumphs she has experienced in coming of age as a scholar teacher wife mother grandmother and most especially a writer A pioneer in composition studies and a chronic nonconformist Bloom is a lifelong advocate of opportunity authenticity and expression Taking a stance in favor of bold creativity in living teaching and the act of writing that ties both together she warns against the snares and sneers of the seven deadly virtues duty rationality conformity efficiency order economy and punctuality that so often subvert the mission of education and the potential of expressive communication

Ranging from the comic to the confessional Bloom's memoir interweaves the pleasures and problems of a forbidden marriage and complex family the joys of cooking and travel the struggles to become a professor in an era that rejected women faculty and the risks of heeding the siren call of creative nonfiction These fifteen essays probe the assumptions and values ethical intellectual social aesthetic and inevitably political of what Bloom has found to be the most complicated challenging satisfying aspects of her loves and labors
