Chapter 1

Business Decisions and Financial Accounting

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

1. Accounting is a system of analyzing, recording, and summarizing the results of a business's activities and then reporting them to decision makers.
2. An advantage of operating as a sole proprietorship, rather than a corporation, is that it is easy to establish. Another advantage is that income from a sole proprietorship is taxed only once in the hands of the individual proprietor (income from a corporation is taxed in the corporation and then again in the hands of the individual shareholder). A disadvantage of operating as a sole proprietorship, rather than a corporation, is that the individual proprietor can be held responsible for the debts of the business.
3. Financial accounting focuses on preparing and using the financial statements that are made available to owners and external users such as customers, creditors, and potential investors who are interested in reading them. Managerial accounting focuses on other accounting reports that are not released to the general public, but instead are prepared for internal decision making and used by employees, supervisors, and managers who run the company.
4. Financial reports are used by both internal and external groups and individuals. The internal groups are comprised of the various managers of the business. The external groups include investors, creditors, governmental agencies, other interested parties, and the public at large.
5. The business itself, not the individual stockholders who own the business, is viewed as owning the assets and owing the liabilities on its balance sheet. A business's balance sheet includes the assets, liabilities, and stockholders' equity of only that business and not the personal assets, liabilities, and equity of the stockholders. The financial statements of a company show the results of the business activities of only that company.

Public Sector Reform and Performance Management in Emerging Economies Zahirul Hoque,2021-05-23 In the recent decade governments worldwide are increasingly focusing on being community centric and outcomes based Consequently they are starting to move towards outcomes based approaches to public financial management systems An outcomes based approach allows government service agencies and specific program areas to organize and communicate priorities to achieve what matters and makes a difference rather than just going through the motions Empirical evidence on how government agencies in emerging economies go about this contemporary approach and issues affecting these practices is limited This edited collection of chapters is aimed at covering public sector reform and performance management in emerging economies with special reference to outcomes based approaches in practice in government services Practices from developed economies contained in the first book on the topic have been published by Routledge in February 2021 The insights offered on the topic are written by renowned scholars who have identified important issues pertinent to those interested in public sector governance accounting accountability and performance management effectiveness in emerging economies The book will be highly accessible to researchers academics and students in the fields of accounting public administration development studies and other non accounting audiences alike
