The Beloved Community Charles Marsh, 2008-07-31 A noted theologian explains how the radical idea of Christian love animated the African American civil rights movement and how it can power today s social justice struggles Speaking to his supporters at the end of the Montgomery bus boycott in 1956 Martin Luther King Jr declared that their common goal was not simply the end of segregation as an institution Rather the end is reconciliation the end is redemption the end is the creation of the beloved community King s words reflect the strong religious convictions that motivated the African American civil rights movement As King and his allies saw it Jesus had founded the most revolutionary movement in human history a movement built on the unconditional love of God for the world and the mandate to live in that love Through a commitment to this idea of love and to the practice of nonviolence civil rights leaders sought to transform the social and political realities of twentieth century America In The Beloved Community theologian and award winning author Charles Marsh traces the history of the
