Antigua and the Antiguan (Vol. 1&2) Mrs. Lanaghan, 2023-11-14 In Antigua and the Antiguan Mrs Lanaghan offers a meticulous ethnographic study of Antiguan society in the 19th century delving into the island's culture, customs and socio-political landscape. Through vivid prose and keen observation she chronicles the lives of both the indigenous population and European settlers capturing the complexities of colonial life. The work serves as both a historical document and a literary tapestry intertwining narrative storytelling with exhaustive detail that immerses the reader in the Caribbean milieu of the period illustrating the tensions and harmonious coexistences amid colonialism. Mrs Lanaghan, a contemporary of the Victorian era, possessed a unique perspective on the Caribbean shaped by her personal experiences and her commitment to exploring themes of identity and cultural inheritance. Her insights and observations are informed not only by her travels but also by her scholarly approach to anthropology which was emerging as a discipline during her lifetime. This blend of firsthand experience and academic rigor provides the reader with a multifaceted understanding of Antigua as both an island and a cultural entity. This groundbreaking work is a must read for scholars and enthusiasts of Caribbean history, colonial studies and ethnography. Mrs Lanaghan's ability to convey the essence of Antiguan life invites readers to appreciate the rich tapestry of influences that have shaped the region making it an invaluable addition to any literary collection.

Decolonizing EFL Writing Education Shizhou Yang, 2025-01-15 Arguably the first book length exploration of decolonizing English as a Foreign Language (EFL) writing education, this novel volume uses poetic autoethnography to provide a situated, dynamic and complex view of multilingual writers through their second language (L2) academic writing and creative writing. Responding to contemporary calls to decolonize L2 writing as a field and diversify academic writing for multilingual students, this book is the first of its kind to explore the decolonization of EFL writing education from a Global Southern context. Chapters critically and creatively consider issues of educational technologies, translanguaging, academic writing, epistemology and pedagogy from two writing courses from a Global South and classroom writing ecology perspective. Using poetic autoethnography alongside data from authentic writing classrooms in Thailand, the book posits that emergent translanguaging literature can be cultivated for decolonization purposes, critiquing and providing decolonial options in such areas as monolingual ideology, freewriting, student identity and mind. Empowering EFL writing teachers to raise students' critical awareness of issues such as writing culture and coloniality, this book will be of key interest to researchers, scholars and postgraduate students in the fields of applied linguistics, Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL), L2 writing, multilingual education and language policy and planning.
