Waterman,1995-07-11 At the age of 19 Ian Waterman was suddenly struck down at work by a rare neurological illness that deprived him of all sensation below the neck He fell on the floor in a heap unable to stand or control his limbs having lost the sense of joint position and proprioception of that sixth sense of his body in space which we all take for granted After months in a neurological ward he was judged incurable and condemned to a life of wheelchair dependence This is the first U S publication of a remarkable book by his physician Jonathan Cole It tells the compelling story including a clear clinical description of a rare condition of how Waterman reclaimed a life of full mobility against all expectations by mental effort and sheer courage Cole describes how Waterman gradually adapted to his strange condition As the doctors had predicted there was no neurological recovery He had to monitor every movement by sight to work out where his limbs were since he had no feedback from his peripheral nerves But with astonishing persistence Waterman developed elaborate tricks and strategies to control his movements enabling him to cope not only with the day to day problems of living but even with the challenges of work love and marriage

Developmental Disabilities and Sacramental Access Edward Foley,2020-08-31 Is a developmental disability an appropriate reason to bar a baptized person from the sacraments This is the disturbing question that generated this book The pastoral reality is that Roman Catholics with developmental disabilities are often barred from sacraments Sometimes they are subject to discrimination or face unusual obstacles in the sacramental life of the Church This volume collaboratively written by pastoral theologians from Catholic Theological Union and the Special Religious Education Office of the Archdiocese of Chicago addresses these issues Punctuated with true stories of shame and triumph this volume grapples with real issues that daily confront Catholics with developmental disabilities With a breadth of scholarship that ranges from biblical perspectives to ethical and canonical issues the authors demonstrate how people with developmental disabilities need to be embraced by the Church and its sacraments for they teach us something central about sacramental encounters

Effective SLP Interventions for Children with Cerebral Palsy Fran Redstone,2014-03-27

Literacy and Augmentative and Alternative Communication Martine Smith,2021-11-15 The new demands of this computer and technology age have focused international attention on literacy levels on literacy development and literacy disorders Governments have launched programs to reduce literacy difficulties and support functional literacy for all In this context the needs of individuals with severe speech and physical impairments may seem relatively small and even unimportant However for this group of individuals in particular unlocking the literacy code opens up tremendous opportunities minimizing the disabling effects of their underlying speech and motor impairments and supporting participation in society Ironically however for a group for whom literacy is such an important achievement current studies suggest that achieving functional literacy skills is particularly challenging In order to read individuals with severe speech impairments must access a set of written symbols and decode them to abstract meaning just as anyone else must do They must convert underlying messages into an alternative external symbol format in order to write In order to become expert in both of these activities they must learn at least a certain core of knowledge about how the symbols and messages relate to each other Just as there are many ways to skin a chicken there are many possible ways to achieve mastery of reading and writing Although the essence of the task may remain the same for individuals with congenital speech impairments they may process the task or develop task mastery in ways that are quite different from speaking children who have no additional physical impairments Literacy and Augmentative and Alternative Communication focuses on individuals with combined physical and communication impairments who rely at least some of the time on aided communication It investigates the range of research and application issues relating to AAC and literacy primarily reading and writing skills from the emergent literacy stage up through adulthood use of reading for various vocational and leisure purposes It provides a balanced view of both the whole language as well as the more analytic approaches to reading instruction necessary for the development of reading skills

An Introduction to Child Language Development Susan H. Foster- Cohen, 2014-06-17 This volume introduces the field of child language development studies and presents hypotheses in an accessible largely non technical language aiming to demonstrate the relationship between these hypotheses and interpretations of data It makes the assumption that having a theory of language development is as important as having reliable data about what children say and understand and it advocates a combination of both rationalist and more empiricist traditions In fact the author overtly argues that different traditions provide different pieces of the picture and that taking any single approach is unlikely to lead to productive understanding Susan Foster Cohen explores a range of issues including the nature of prelinguistic communication and its possible relationship to linguistic development early stages of language development and how they can be viewed in the light of later developments the nature and role of children s experience with the language s around them variations in language development due to both pathological and non pathological differences between children and in the latter case between the languages they learn later oral language development and literacy The approach is distinctly psycholinguistic and linguistic rather than sociolinguistic although there is significant treatment of issues which intersect with more sociolinguistic concerns e g literacy language play and bilingualism There are exercises and discussion questions throughout designed to reinforce the ideas being presented as well as to offer the student the opportunity to think beyond the text to ideas at the cutting edge of research The accessible presentation of key issues will appeal to the intended undergraduate readership and will be of interest to those taking courses in language development linguistics developmental psychology educational linguistics and speech pathology The book will also serve as a useful introduction to students wishing to pursue post graduate courses which deal with child language development The Disability Studies Reader Lennard J. Davis,1997 The Disability Studies Reader collects for the first time representative texts from the newly emerging field of disability studies This volume represents a major advance in presenting the most important writings about disability with an emphasis on those writers working from a materialist and postmodernist perspective Drawing together experts in cultural studies literary criticism sociology biology the visual arts pedagogy and post colonial studies the collection provides a comprehensive approach to the issue of disability Contributors include Erving Goffman Susan Sontag Michelle Fine and Susan Wendell Everybody Belongs Arthur Shapiro,2003-09-01 The evil prosthesis of Captain Hook the comical speech of Porky Pig and the bumbling antics of Mr Magoo are all examples of images in our culture which can become the basis of negative attitudes and subliminal prejudice towards persons with disabilities These attitudes influence and underlie discriminatory acts resulting in negative treatment and segregation A teacher's ability to recognize and counter such images may well determine the success of inclusion and mainstreaming programs in our schools and society Well researched and well written this book offers practical guidance as grounded in solid research to schools that are wrestling with how to mainstream children with disabilities Lost - Liberated - Loved Claudia Mari  le Wulf,2023 Christian ethics also called moral theology in the tradition is one of the most controversial topics within theology as well as outside it Yet the goal of these ethics is a life in fullness and freedom Without ethical guidelines and personal responsibility a life cannot succeed Norms and laws aim to create space for life and protect it To fill this freedom people are responsible for that And being responsible means owing an answer to someone Ethics therefore always takes place in relation to one's own conscience to the good that can be accomplished and in relation to other living beings and nature Christian ethics moreover places this responsibility in relation to God People are free but also limited they hurt each other and need forgiveness and reconciliation Often people can reconcile with each other but sometimes accounts remain open the evil was too great or the reconciliation failed Christian theology can refer to redemption here It is just not easy to reconcile its content with the everyday reality of modern people This systematic introduction to moral theology offers an explanation in understandable anthropological terms It shows how the Christian message provides a meaningful answer to the open question of how a human life can succeed Anyone who tries to mediate meaningfully between tradition and modernity in the pastoral practice of the church will find this book a guide Beyond Community Care Shulamit Ramon,2016-01-06 An innovative multi perspective and international approach to the issues which normalisation entails Carrying on from the concept of community care normalisation or integration is about creating the conditions in the individual and society for leading as autonomous and acceptable a life as possible Based on the right of people with disabilities to an ordinary life it has extensive implications not just for professionals in the mental health field but for all of us
