The Last September:

The Last September Elizabeth Bowen, 2025-01-01 A young woman comes of age in the midst of rising violence during the Irish Troubles in this classic novel by the author of The Death of the Heart County Cork Ireland 1920 Though she is an orphan nineteen year old Lois Farquar enjoys a life of leisure supported by her uncle Sir Richard Naylor and his wife Lady Myra But just beyond the Big House a rebellion is brewing that threatens their way of life As the Naylors invite friends to join them including British officers sent to quell the uprising the tennis matches tea parties and romantic intrigues continue Yet all know that the end is approaching Lost within a world that feels increasingly unmoored Lois attempts to free herself from the very class that her elders are vainly defending The Last September depicts the tensions between love and loyalty and between tradition and emancipation from both personal and political beliefs The Last September Elizabeth

Bowen, 2025-10-20 Brilliant A successful combination of social comedy and private tragedy The Times Literary Supplement Elizabeth Bowen masterfully depicts the Anglo Irish aristocracy's decline during the Irish War of Independence Set in the 1920s on a vast country estate the novel portrays the social and political turbulence through the lens of the Naylor family Bowen's nuanced characterization and vivid descriptions paint a poignant picture of a world of wealth filled with tennis parties and army camp dances on the brink of disintegration Nineteen year old Lois Farquar embodies the tensions between tradition and modernity in an existential coming of age crisis as she navigates personal and societal upheaval Bowen skillfully encapsulates Lois's transition from adolescence to adulthood The Last September is a compelling read exploring identity the inevitable passage of time and the fight for freedom both political and spiritual Elizabeth Bowen is one of the handful of great novelists of this century The Washington Post Had Elizabeth Bowen been a man she would be recognised as one of the finest novelists of the 20th century John Banville The Irish Times

The Last September Nina de Gramont, 2016-07-05 If you liked The Girl on the Train read The Last September a literary whodunit set on Cape Cod weaving a murder mystery with the emotionally intense story of a fraying marriage Newsday Impossible to put down With an artist's eye and a poet's heart de Gramont realizes a world of love mystery and the shattering sorrow of mental illness deceit hope and lives cut short Library Journal starred review Brett has been in love with her husband Charlie from the day she laid eyes on him in college When he is found murdered Brett is devastated But if she is honest with herself their marriage had been hanging by a thread for quite some time All clues point to Charlie's mentally ill brother Eli but any number of people might have been driven to kill Charlie a handsome charismatic man who unwittingly damaged almost every life he touched Brett is determined to understand how such a tragedy could have happened and whether she was somehow complicit Set in the desolate autumn beauty of Cape Cod this riveting emotional puzzle explores the psyche of a woman facing down the meaning of love and loyalty The Last September is a wonderful glowing book populated by characters that become a part of your life long after the last page has been turned It is the type of novel writers admire and readers long for Jason Mott author of The Returned Brilliant rendering of love story and murder mystery I was hooked by the first paragraph which somehow contains all the beautiful luminous grief of the whole story and I truly did not want to let it go in the end Brad Watson author of Aliens in the Prime of Their Lives A moody murder mystery Boasts lovely understated writing sharply drawn settings and once again characters who are irresistibly attractive flawed and dangerous A fine literary whodunit from an accomplished storyteller Kirkus Reviews The Last September, 1969 The Last September Elizabeth Bowen, 1990-01 Livet p det lokale gods i Danielstown Irland med tennis baller og omgang med de engelske officerer fra den lokale garnison st r i st rk kontrast til det ulmende irske opr r mod engl nderne Ireland's Gramophones Zan Cammack, 2021-08-10 Because gramophonic technology grew up alongside Ireland s progressively more outspoken and violent struggles for political autonomy and national stability Irish Modernism inherently links the gramophone to representations of these dramatic cultural upheavals Many key works of Irish literary modernism like those by James Joyce Elizabeth Bowen and Sean O Casey depend upon the gramophone for their ability to record Irish cultural traumas both symbolically and literally during one of the country s most fraught developmental eras In each work the gramophone testifies of its own complexity as a physical object and its multiform value in the artistic development of textual material In each work too the object seems virtually self placed less an aesthetic device than a thing belonging primordially to the text The machine is also often an agent and counterpart to literary characters Thus the gramophone points to a deeper connection between object and culture than we perceive if we consider it as only an image enhancement or instrument This book examines the gramophone as an object that refuses to remain in the background of scenes in which it appears forcing us to confront its mnemonic heritage during a period of Irish history burdened with political and cultural turbulence Miscellaneous Documents United States. Congress. House, 1877 Bulletin Wells Woodbridge Cooke, 1888 Traces of Another Time Margaret Scanlan, 2014-07-14 Is the historical novel the outmoded genre that some people imagine form inseparable from romanticism nationalism and the nineteenth century In this stimulating volume Margaret Scanlan answers a convincing no as she demonstrates the relevance of historical novels by well known figures such as Anthony Burgess John le Carr Graham Greene Doris Lessing Iris Murdoch and Paul Scott as well as by less well established writers such as Joseph Hone and Thomas Kilroy Scanlan shows what a skeptical experimental approach to the relationship between history and fiction these writers adopt and how radically they depart from the mimetic conventions usually associated with historical novels Drawing on contemporary historiography and literary theory Scanlan defines the problem of writing historical fiction at a time when people see the subject of history as fragmentary and uncertain The writers she discusses avoid the great events of history to concentrate on its margins what interests them is history as it is experienced usually reluctantly by human beings who would rather be doing something else The first section of the book looks at fictional representations of England s difficult history in Ireland the second examines spies aliens and the loss of public confidence and the third probes the theme of Apocalypse nuclear or otherwise and depicts the collapse of the British Empire as an instance of the greatly diminished importance of Western culture in the world Originally published in 1990 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Diaphanous Bodies Jeremy Colangelo, 2021-11-09 Diaphanous Bodies Ability Disability and Modernist Irish Literature examines ability as a category of embodiment and embodied experience and in the process opens up a new area of inquiry in the growing field of literary disability studies It argues that the construction of ability arises through a process of exclusion and forgetting in which the depiction of sensory information and epistemological judgment subtly or sometimes un subtly elide the fact of embodied subjectivity The result is what Colangelo calls the myth of the diaphanous abled body a fiction that holds that an abled body is one which does not participate in or situate experience The diaphanous abled body underwrites the myth that abled and disabled constitute two distinct categories of being rather than points on a constantly shifting continuum In any system of marginalization the dominant identity always sets itself up as epistemologically and experientially superior to whichever group it separates itself from Indeed the norm is always most powerful when it is understood as an empty category or a view from nowhere Diaphanous Bodies explores the phantom body that underwrites the artificial dichotomy between abled and disabled upon which the representation of embodied experience depends

Marking Whiteness Sonita Sarker, Jennifer Nesbit, 2025-09-01 The collection is divided into three parts to address the practices of Whiteness in modernist studies Aesthetics Intersectionality and Inter disciplinary Practice We begin with aesthetics because modernism is the aesthetic produced in dynamic relation to the cultural formations of modernity perceived rapid changes in labor transportation technology and perceptions of body mind and even character Essays in this section examine how the production of Whiteness is baked in as a positive value in assessing the value of cultural production The second section focuses on the embodiment of Whiteness primarily through the gendered and racialized female body as a deflective practice that unmarks Whiteness while making it central to cultural crises around morality national borders and futurity The third section considers the tacit prioritization of Whiteness as a positive value through institutional structures and pedagogical practice these case studies ruminate on the generative potential of isolating and marking these effects In each essay scholars examine the stakes of marking Whiteness as a category of analysis distinct from yet wholly imbricated with racial categorization given the potential for reification inherent in all strategies of marking

Troubled Histories, Troubled Fictions , 2022-05-20 Twentieth century Irish fiction powerfully reflects the intensely political nature of the Irish experience for the last hundred years and earlier The essays in Troubled Histories Troubled

Fictions Twentieth Century Anglo Irish Prose focus upon the various ways in which the work of authors otherwise as diverse as James Joyce James Stephens Elizabeth Bowen Molly Keane Eimar O Duffy Jennifer Johnston William Trevor Julia O Faolain and a number of recent women writers synchronizes with items that are or were high on the agenda of Irish politics Discussion ranges from the political and ideological use to which Joyce puts etymology sex and early Irish history the symbolical importance of the Big House and the politics of sexuality in the immediate post independence period to representations of the recent Troubles Irish Childhoods Pádraic Whyte, 2011-05-25 While much has been written about Irish culture s apparent obsession with the past and with representing childhood few critics have explored in detail the position of children s fiction within such discourses This book serves to redress these imbalances illuminating both the manner in which children s texts engage with complex cultural discourses in contemporary Ireland and the significant contribution that children s novels and films can make to broader debates concerning Irish identity at the end of the twentieth and beginning of the twenty first centuries Through close analysis of specific books and films published or produced since 1990 Irish Childhoods offers an insight into contrasting approaches to the representation of Irish history and childhood in recent children s fiction Each chapter interrogates the unique manner in which an author or filmmaker engages with twentieth century Irish history from a contemporary perspective and reveals that constructions of childhood in Irish children s fiction are often used to explore aspects of Ireland s past and present Iron Age ,1913 Commercial Vegetables for Fresh Market United States. Crop Reporting Board, 1968 Annual Report of Alaska Agricultural Experiment Stations Alaska Agricultural Experiment Stations (U.S.), 1912 Screening Text Shannon Wells-Lassagne, Ariane Hudelet, 2013-02-07 Rather than limiting the cinema as certain French New Wave critics feared adaptation has encouraged new inspiration to explore the possibilities of the intersection of text and film This collection of essays covers various aspects of adaptation studies questions of genre and myth race and gender readaptation and pedagogical and practical approaches Twentieth-century Fiction by Irish Women Heather Ingman, 2007 Heather Ingman s study argues that reading twentieth century Irish women s fiction in the light of Kristeva s theories of nationhood places Irish women at the heart of writing about the nation and demonstrates that the political dimension of their fiction has often been underestimated Her book is an important contribution to the study of gender in Irish writing that changes the way we view Irish women s writing
