way Previous studies considered law to be independent objective and neutral and even those that considered social structures and actors focused on economic and political factors Employing the framework of the author the work and the use this study attempts to show how relationships and struggles of the parties are actually manifested through communication and how the strategic communication of the parties influences the structural environment of copyright law There has been a long running debate over whether and how the copyright law evolved from the era of the print technology should be applied to computer programs a new work of authorship Contrary to some cautionary arguments that modern copyright law tends to protect copyright holders while disregarding authors rights the struggle between developers and non developers rather than between copyright holders and non copyright holders was clearly manifested in legal arguments The construct of authorship has been modified yet remained central in copyright discourse On the other hand the concept of the use despite the significance of users in copyright regime has yet to be developed to play an important role in the legal arguments Moreover the factor of whether the party was a developing entity was found to be a single most important factor influencing the courts decisions But only when the party could successfully present itself as the one involved with developing activities the court was more likely to accept its argument than the other party s Therefore it was the legitimacy gained by communicating the nature of the party rather than the nature of the party itself that made the difference in the ways the courts made decisions This book presents how in this process of strategic communication the structure of copyright law was reproduced and transformed
