and Transcultural Chinese Theater Sy Ren Quah,2004-04-30 A reclusive painter living in exile in Paris Gao Xingjian found himself instantly famous when he became the first Chinese language writer to receive the Nobel Prize for Literature 2000 The author of the novel Soul Mountain Gao is best known in his native country not as a visual artist or novelist but as a playwright and theater director This important yet rarely studied figure is the focus of Sy Ren Quah s rich account appraising his contributions to contemporary Chinese and World Theater over the past two decades A playwright himself Quah provides an in depth analysis of the literary dramatic intellectual and technical aspects of Gao s plays and theatrical concepts treating

Gao's theater not only as an art form but with Gao himself as a significant cultural phenomenon. The Bus Stop, Wild Man and other early works are examined in the context of 1980s China. Influenced by Stanislavsky, Brecht and Beckett as well as traditional Chinese theater arts and philosophies, Gao refused to conform to the dominant realist conventions of the time and made a conscious effort to renovate Chinese theater. The young playwright sought to create a Modern Eastern Theater that was neither a vague generalization nor a nationalistic declaration but a challenge to orthodox ideologies. After fleeing China, Gao was free to experiment openly with theatrical forms. Quah examines his post-exile plays in a context of performance theory and philosophical concerns such as the real versus the unreal and the Self versus the Other. The image conveyed of Gao is not of an activist but of an intellectual committed to maintaining his artistic independence who continues to voice his opinion on political matters.

Cinematic Modernism and Contemporary Film Howard Finn, 2022-10-06 Cinema was the most important new artistic medium of the twentieth century and modernism was the most important new aesthetic movement across the arts in the twentieth century. However, what exactly is the relationship between cinema and modernism? Cinematic Modernism and Contemporary Film explores how in the early twentieth century cinema came to be seen as one of the new technologies which epitomised modernity and how cinema itself reflected ideas, hopes and fears concerning modern life. Howard Finn examines the emergence of a new international style of cinema combining a poetic aesthetic of the image with genre-based fictional narrative and documentary realism. He provides concise accounts of how theorists such as André Bazin, Siegfried Kracauer, Gilles Deleuze and Jacques Rancière have discussed this cinematic aesthetic, clarifying debates over terms such as realism, classical and avant-garde as well as recent controversies over terms such as slow cinema and vernacular modernism. He further argues the influence of modernism through close readings of many contemporary films, including films by Abbas Kiarostami, Béla Tarr, Jia Zhangke and Angela Schanelec. Drawing on a broad range of examples, including Soviet montage, Italian neorealism, postwar new waves and the new cinema of Taiwan and Iran, this book explores the cultural significance of modernism and its lasting influence over cinema.

Green Men & White Swans Jacqueline Simpson, 2010-07-31 Why do British pubs have such curious names? What tales lie behind the Moonrakers, the Hooden Horse, the Derby Tup? Spanning beloved locals from the Three Witches to the Three Nuns, from the Ashen Faggot to the Twa Corbies, this book is both an intriguing insight into the history of the British pub and a captivating journey through the country's dramatic past.
