BOOK JACKET Secularization of Iran Azadeh Kian-Thiébaut, Azadeh Kian, 1998 This book which is based on primary and secondary textual sources as well as personal field work and personal interviews highlights the ongoing contribution of the new middle class in the making of modern Iran It studies the main causes of their discontent against secular modernizing states and the reasons behind the failure of secular politics under the Pahlavis and emphasizes the revival of secular ideas and politics in post revolutionary Iran Despite the contribution of the secular new middle class in introducing modern ideas and demands and their salient role in opposition politics throughout twentieth century Iran they failed to gain the leadership of the 1979 revolution The result was the defeat of secular ideologies by a modernized and radicalized Shi'ite doctrine The book examines significant social cultural and political outcomes of the revolution arguing that the failure of political Islam to respond to societal demands has led to the revitalization of debates on Western modernity The increasing support of the civil society for these intellectual endeavors which attempt to secularize Islam and reconcile Islam with democracy shows that the failure of secularism was the outcome of temporary circumstances

Imagining Iran Majid Sharifi, 2013-08-22 Thematically this book problematizes Iranian official nationalism It reviews how every modern Iranian regime since the constitutional revolution of the 1905 06 has failed to legitimize its official identity resulting in the fall of five different regimes The book details how the collapse of each regime resulted in the interruption of the official meaning of being Iranian as well as the meanings of its enemies What remained the same was how every Iranian regime represented itself as the agent of a particular national desire defined in terms of making Iran to become sovereign developed democratic and constitutional Nonetheless no regime was able to convince a great majority of the people that it achieved what it represented This book makes three specific contributions The first contribution is pedagogical By focusing on the dynamics of regime changes it provides a heuristic model for identifying challenges that all Iranian regimes have faced Moreover the book is a comprehensive review of the disruptive oppressive and bloody nature of the rise and fall of different regimes The second contribution is theoretical Rather than examining the behavior of various Iranian regimes in isolation from their international context the book examines how each regime got to understand itself in relations to its imperial others By examining the governmental rationality of each regime the book offers a better theoretical framework for understanding political development not only in Iran but also in all other Middle Eastern and South Asian states Finally the third contribution of this book is its critical approach to the main body of the literature on Iran modernity development democracy and constitutionalism

Shi'i Sectarianism in the Middle East Elisheva Machlis, 2014-09-17 The eruption of violent sectarianism in Iraq following the US invasion in 2003 brought the question of Sunni Shi i relations in the country to the forefront of the international public agenda It also strengthened the popular belief that contemporary Shi ism is inherently sectarian Yet several decades earlier Ayatollah Khomeini had declared an Islamic revolution and downplayed its Shi i origins and links So what is the true orientation of Shi i Islam in the contemporary era and how did modernisation alter its sectarian affiliation This book contends that early Shi'i reformist thought set the foundations for a more universal oriented Shi'ism. Prominent reformists in the first half of the twentieth century from the holy cities of Karbala and Najaf in Iraq and from the Shi'i centres in Southern Lebanon played a significant role in the renewal of Shi'ism and laid the groundwork for its reinvention in the modern era. Exploring this shift towards a more ecumenical perception of Islam, Elisheva Machlis here provides a fresh perspective on inter-sectarian relations in contemporary Iraq and illuminates the intellectual roots of the Islamic revolution by examining networks of Shi'i scholars such as Mu'ammad usayn K shif al Ghi and Mu sin al Am n al mil operating within a more globalised Muslim world. Drawing on the experiences of early Shi'i reformists such as Abd al usayn Sharaf al D n al M saw in Lebanon and Mu'ammad Jaw d Mughniyya in Damascus, this book gives new insight on the future of inter-Muslim relations at a time of growing inter-sectarian contention from the Iran-Iraq war to the post 2003 Sunni-Shi'i conflict in Iraq and al-Qa'ida's anti-Shi'i message, taking into account questions of theology, historiography, jurisprudence and politics which all played a vital role in the transition to the contemporary era. The author here analyses the broad scholarly connections between Iran, Iraq and Lebanon in the twentieth century while debating paramount questions of leadership, identity and group membership in the development of modern Shi'ism. Examining the relationship between intellectual thought and socio-political development in the region, this book provides a new perspective concerning the future of an increasingly globalised Muslim world and will prove essential reading for students and specialists. Anti-Veiling Campaigns in the Muslim World Stephanie Cronin, 2014-04-24

In recent years, bitter controversies have erupted across Europe and the Middle East about women's veiling and especially their wearing of the face veil or niqab. Yet the deeper issues contained within these controversies—secularism versus religious belief, individual freedom versus social or family coercion, identity versus integration—are not new but are strikingly prefigured by earlier conflicts. This book examines the state-sponsored anti-veiling campaigns which swept across wide swathes of the Muslim world in the interwar period, especially in Turkey and the Balkans, Iran, Afghanistan and the Soviet republics of the Caucasus and Central Asia. It shows how veiling was officially discouraged and ridiculed as backward and although it was rarely banned, veiling was politicized and turned into a rallying point for a wider opposition. Asking a number of questions about this earlier anti-veiling discourse and the policies flowing from it and the reactions which it provoked, the book illuminates and contextualizes contemporary debates about gender, Islam and modernism. Crime, Poverty and Survival in the Middle East and North Africa Stephanie Cronin, 2019-11-28

The concept of the dangerous classes was born in a rapidly urbanizing and industrializing nineteenth-century Europe. It described all those who had fallen out of the working classes into the lower depths of the new societies, surviving by their wits or various amoral, disreputable or criminal strategies. This included beggars and vagrants, swindlers, pickpockets and burglars, prostitutes and pimps, ex-soldiers, ex-prisoners, tricksters, drug dealers, the unemployed or unemployable, indeed every type of the criminal and marginal. This book examines the dangerous classes in the Middle East and North Africa their lives and the strategies they used to avoid evade cheat placate or occasionally resist the authorities Chapters cover the narratives of their lives their relationship with respectable society their political inclinations and their role in shaping systems and institutions of discipline and control and their representation in literature and in popular culture The book demonstrates the liminality of the dangerous classes and their capacity for re invention It also indicates the sharpening relevance of the concept to a Middle East and North Africa now in the grip of an almost permanent sense of crisis its younger generations crippled by a pervasive sense of hopelessness prone to petty crime and vulnerable to induction as foot soldiers into drug and people smuggling petty gangsterism and jihadism
