The Presence of Light Matthew Kapstein, 2004-11-03 There is perhaps no greater constant in religious intuition and experience than the presence of light In spiritual traditions East and West light is not only ubiquitous but something that assumes strikingly similar forms in altogether different historical and cultural settings This study examines light as an aspect of religiously valued experiences and its entailments for mystical theology philosophy politics and religious art The essays in this volume make an important contribution to religious studies by proposing that it is misleading to conceive of religious experience in terms of an irreconcilable dichotomy between universality and cultural construction An esteemed group of contributors representing the study of Asian and Western religious traditions from a range of disciplinary perspectives suggests that attention to various forms of divine radiance shows that there is indeed a range of principles that if not universal are nevertheless very widely occurring and amenable to fruitful comparative inquiry What results is a work of enormous scope demonstrating compelling cross connections that will be of value to scholars of comparative religions mysticism and the relationship between art and the sacred Contributors Catherine B Asher Raoul Birnbaum Sarah Iles Johnston Matthew T

The Invisible Protagonist Carla Ricci, 2023-01-13 Set in Japan the book tells of Kou his extraordinary life and the compelling thread that gives the work its title It is powerful because it shatters the notion that every human being has of himself of feeling that he is the protagonist of his own existence Although it is an inevitable perception Kou helps us to understand that this is not the case He presents us with evidence of the fact that the real protagonist is someone else an invisible presence who silently waits for man to do what he must does nothing to show itself but never denies its being if it is sought In the first part the author narrates Kou s story but in the second part it is the invisible protagonist who speaks about himself and the man he inhabits their roles their missions and also what death means for both of them It is about a man but also about all men because the sense of infinity that permeates the book belongs to every human being and the reader cannot help but feel it It will be like sensing the beating of your own essence which you have ignored or forgotten until now but which you can now rediscover and discover why and for whom you are living along with it
