Blending and the Study of Narrative Ralf Schneider,Marcus Hartner,2012-10-30 The theory of Blending or Conceptual Integration proposed by Gilles Fauconnier and Marc Turner is one of most promising cognitive theories of meaning production It has been successfully applied to the analysis of poetic discourse and micro textual elements such as metaphor Prose narrative has so far received significantly less attention The present volume aims to remedy this situation Following an introductory discussion of the connections between narrative and the processes of blending the contributions demonstrate the range of applications of the theory to the study of narrative. They cover issues such as time and space, literary character and perspective, genre, story levels and fictional minds. Some chapters show how such phenomena as metalepsis, counterfactual narration, intermediality, extended metaphors and suspense can be fruitfully studied from the vantage point of Conceptual Integration. Working within a theoretical framework situated at the intersection of narratology and the cognitive sciences, the book provides both fresh readings for individual literary and film narratives and new impulses for post-classical narratology.

The Holocaust across Borders Hilene S. Flanzbaum, 2021-06-29 Literature of the Holocaust courses, whether taught in high schools or at universities, necessarily cover texts from a broad range of international contexts. Instructors are required, regardless of their own disciplinary training, to become comparatists and discuss all works with equal expertise. This book offers analyses of the ways in which representations of the Holocaust, whether in text, film or material culture, are shaped by national context, providing a valuable pedagogical source in terms of both content and methodology. As memory yields to post-memory, nation of origin plays a larger role in each re-telling, and the chapters in this book explore this notion, covering well-known texts like Night, Hungary, Survival in Auschwitz, Italy, MAUS, United States, This Way to the Gas, Poland and The Reader, Germany, while also introducing lesser-known representations from countries like Argentina or Australia.

Intersectionality in Anglophone Television Series and Cinema Kevin Drif, Georges-Claude Guilbert, 2020-10-15 This book takes an intersectional approach to explore gender, race, ethnicity and social class in television series and films produced by English-speaking countries. Starting from Kimberl Crenshaw's 1989 concept of intersectionality and encompassing film studies, television studies, cultural studies, gender studies, Queer theory, African American studies and post-colonial studies, this volume sheds light not only on revealing intersectional elements of on-screen fiction but also on the very nature of intersectional criticism.

Alternate History Kathleen Singles, 2013-10-14 While strictly speaking, Alternate Histories are not Future Narratives, their analysis can shed a clear light on why Future Narratives are so different from past narratives. Trying to have it both ways, most Alternate Histories subscribe to a conflicting set of beliefs concerning determinism and freedom of choice, contingency and necessity. For the very first time, Alternate Histories are here discussed against the backdrop of their Other Future Narratives. The volume contains in-depth analyses of the classics of the genre such as Philip K. Dick's The Man in the High Castle and Philip Roth's The Plot Against America, as well as less widely discussed manifestations of the genre such as Dieter K. H. N. Christian Kracht's Ich werde hier sein im Sonnenschein und im Schatten and Quentin Tarantino's film Inglourious Basterds.

Western Japaneseness: Intercultural Translations of Japan in Western Media Frank Jacob, Bruno Surace, 2021-03-02 Our images of non Western cultures are often based on stereotypes that are replicated over the years These stereotypes often appear in popular media and are responsible for a pre set image of otherness The present book investigates these processes and the media representation of otherness especially as an artificial construct based on stereotypes and their repetition in the case of Japan Western Japaneseness thereby illustrates how the Western image of Japan in popular media is rather a construct that in a way replicated itself instead of a more serious encounter with a foreign and different cultural context This book will be of great value to students and academics who hold interest in media studies Japanese studies and cultural studies It will also appeal to a broader audience with interests in Japan more generally
