Importance of nursing leaders in the healthcare area

Different aspects of nursing leadership are currently one of the most researchable topics. It is clear due to the influence of nursing leaders' impact. They are responsible for both working environments and the quality of provided care.

Hospitals and other healthcare facilities must care about both the physical and social sides of their environment. All cleaned and sterilized rooms with all the necessary equipment will not work without trust between patients and staff, subordination, and respect between healthcare professionals. Nursing leaders and heads of the teams are expected to create safe and healthy environments (Hult et al.). They need to care about the relationship between the teams and the needs of their team members. Such steps are needed not only for a proper environment but also to support the high level of provided services. A healthy environment will support nursing staff in providing patient-centered, high-quality, and cost-effective care (Hult et al.). It is the core of any healthcare service, and nursing leaders are mainly accountable for that.

Thus, responsibility for both working environments and the quality of provided care makes nursing leaders important figures in healthcare. Further investigation of leadership styles in nursing can be helpful for more effective coping with this responsibility. It is useful for nursing leaders and the management of the facilities for which they work. |

Tracing the Impact of First-Year Writing Laura Wilder,2024-11-15 Tracing the Impact of First Year Writing presents the results of a large scale longitudinal study of college writers that explores the impact of a required first year writing course with a comparative approach not previously available Over five years Laura Wilder conducted 143 interviews with and collected 774 pages of writing from 58 students half of whom had taken a new first year writing course and half who had not Wilder found that while in many ways the experiences of both groups are comparable demonstrating how students receive valuable educations in rhetoric and writing from a variety of sources beyond a first year writing course students who took the first year writing course were much more likely to identify as writers This identification supported students use of writing in powerfully generative and knowledge building ways that they carried with them long after the course into other appropriate contexts In contrast to previous longitudinal studies of college writers undertaken at institutions with high prestige and resources Tracing the Impact of First Year Writing explores the role of writing at a regional public university and documents how students experiences with writing can be highly divergent across the curriculum and unequal across campuses Additionally this book includes the voices of students who do not identify as capable writers and have strongly negative emotional reactions to writing and writing instruction and adds empirical support to innovative calls in the field to transform the first year writing course into one that inspires students to reflectively consider writing itself
