Look at the pictures and discuss the questions in groups.

1. How are the people in the images feeling? Why?

The first two look really happy and proud for achieving their big dreams and the last two look devastated, probably because they just failed something really important

2. What do people usually dream about when they are young? What did you dream about when you were a young child?

I think our first dreams are about our future job, some want to be heroes like police officers or firefighters, others want to be just like their parents and a few more want to be famous people like actors or singers. As a kid I always wanted to be a singer and be famous and glamorous.

3. Reflect on your childhood dreams that have come true.

My most important achievement so far is that I've traveled to a lot of places and met a ton of new people that I'm friends with now.

4. Reflect on those childhood dreams that were never fulfilled. Why didn't they come true?

Even though I still like singing, with the time I changed my mind and chose another career path to follow. It's still related to the arts field but now I'd like to focus more on acting or painting.

5. What's the difference between a dream you see in your sleep and a dream you wish to fulfill?

The normal dream we have while we rest is a sleep dream. The fantasy is gone the moment we wake up. It is a simulated game that our mind plays, and it rarely foresees future events. Most dreams are meaningless.

When we refer to our aims, objectives, and goals using the term "dream," it indicates how truly we are considering the future projects that need to be accomplished.
