Greco,2020-06-10 From the late 1930s until December 7 1941 isolationism and an antipathy toward war in Europe were strong political currents in the US However once the US entered World War II the entire apparatus of the US government was mobilized to market the war to Americans who were incredulous and horrified about the attack at Pearl Harbor Americans wanted immediate and detailed information from the US government and the nation s media and entertainment companies about the recent military disasters This book analyzes the complex relationships between the US government and the entire media and entertainment industries between 1939 and 1946 The US government realized in early 1942 that it needed to forge an alliance with the media and entertainment industries to create and maintain support for the war The Office of War Information OWI was the US government agency acting as the liaison between Washington and the diverse media and entertainment industries and all of them confronted a series of major issues and concerns to convince Americans to support the war effort This book offers business historians an examination of the complex and sometimes tense relationships between the OWI and the radio magazine newspaper and motion picture industries

The War of Words Molly Guptill Manning, 2023-09-26 From New York Times bestselling author Molly Guptill Manning comes The War of Words the captivating story of how American troops in World War II wielded pens to tell their own stories as they made history At a time when civilian periodicals faced strict censorship US Army Chief of Staff George Marshall won the support of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt to create an expansive troop newspaper program Both Marshall and FDR recognized that there was a second struggle taking place outside the battlefields of World War II the war of words While Hitler inundated the globe with propaganda morale across the US Army dwindled As the Axis blurred the lines between truth and fiction the best defense was for American troops to bring the truth into focus by writing it down and disseminating it themselves By war's end over 4 600 unique GI publications had been printed around the world In newsprint troops made sense of their hardships losses and reasons for fighting These newspapers by and for the troops became the heart and soul of a unit From Normandy to the shores of Japan American soldiers exercised a level of free speech the military had never known nor would again It was an extraordinary chapter in American democracy and military history In the war for four freedoms it was remarkably fitting that troops fought not only with guns but with their pens This stunning volume includes fourteen pages of photographs and illustrations
