

10. The Princess and the Pea

A prince longed to get married. There were many fine girls in the kingdom, but his mother, the queen, insisted that he wait for a real princess. One night, a princess came to the castle gate. Her carriage had broken down, and she needed shelter for the night. The prince fell in love with her, but his mother wanted proof that she was a real princess. The queen slipped a single dried pea under a dozen mattresses on the bed. Only a real princess would be tender enough to feel it. The princess tossed and turned that night, and woke up quite black and blue from the pea. Only then did the queen agree to her happy son's marriage.

Transnational Literacy Autobiographies as Translingual Writing Suresh Canagarajah, 2019-07-08 The literacy autobiography is a personal narrative reflecting on how one's experiences of spoken and written words have contributed to their ongoing relationship with language and literacy. Transnational Literacy Autobiographies as Translingual Writing is a cutting edge study of this engaging genre of writing in academic and professional contexts. In this state of the art collection, Suresh Canagarajah brings together 11 samples of writing by students that both document their literary journeys and pinpoint the seminal works affecting their development as translingual readers and writers. Integrating the narrative of the author which is written as his own literacy autobiography with a close analysis of these texts, this book presents a case for the literacy autobiography as an archetypal genre that prepares writers for the conventions and processes required in other genres of writing. It demonstrates the serious epistemological and rhetorical implications behind the genre of literacy autobiography among migrant scholars and students, effectively translates theoretical publications on language diversity for classroom purposes, providing a transferable teaching approach to translingual writing, analyzes the tropes of transnational writers and their craft in meshing translingual resources in their writing, demonstrates how transnationalism and translingualism are interconnected, guiding readers toward an understanding of code-meshing not as a cosmetic addition to texts but motivated toward resolving inescapable personal and social dilemmas. Written and edited by one of the most highly regarded linguists of his generation, this book is key reading for scholars and students of applied linguistics, TESOL and literacy studies as well as tutors of writing and composition worldwide. The Fairytale and Plot Structure Terence Patrick Murphy, 2015-08-24 This book offers a detailed exploration of the plot genotype, the functional structure behind the plots of classical fairy tales. By understanding how plot genotypes are used, the reader or creative writer will obtain a much better understanding of many other types of fiction, including short stories, dramatic texts, and Hollywood screenplays. A Beginner's Guide to Creative Writing Zainab Shahiwala, 2025-07-12 A Beginner's guide to Creative Writing is a thoughtfully crafted self-help companion for children aged 8 to 10. It is designed to unlock the storyteller within every young mind. Whether your child is just beginning their writing journey or already scribbling stories, this book offers a structured, inspiring, and enriching experience. Inside, children will find clear explanations that simplify the writing process, thoughtfully designed prompts to build fluency and confidence, step-by-step guidance to master story structure, sentence variety, vocabulary, and grammar, fun challenges, and brain boosters that make learning enjoyable and effective. This book is more than just a workbook; it's a structured map for self-expression. It encourages children to think imaginatively, write with clarity, and organize their thoughts with coherence. Let the writing journey begin. New Approaches to the Investigation of Language Teaching and Literature Garcés-Manzanera, Aitor, Carrillo García, María Encarnación, 2023-04-11 In the last two decades, the field of language and literature teaching has experienced considerable growth as a result of the wide array of new methodological avenues that have arisen from different angles This paradigm shift has paved the way for the integration of newly conceived didactic resources such as the mediation of social networks for learning language or the interdisciplinarity of culturally mediated language education It is crucial to understand this shift in order to ensure students receive the best education possible New Approaches to the Investigation of Language Teaching and Literature presents an overview of the ongoing methodological tools practices research designs and strategies used in language and literature teaching and provides education researchers and practitioners with empirically sustained evidence of teaching strategies that may be implemented in language education Covering key topics such as language skills adult learners digital literacy and learning aids this reference work is ideal for researchers scholars academicians practitioners educators and students
