Meaning and Mortality in Kierkegaard and Heidegger Adam Buben,2016-04-30 Death is one of those few topics that attract the attention of just about every significant thinker in the history of Western philosophy and this attention has resulted in diverse and complex views on death and what comes after In Meaning and Mortality Adam Buben offers a remarkably useful new framework for understanding the ways in which philosophy has discussed death by focusing first on two traditional strains in the discussion the Platonic and the Epicurean After providing a thorough account of this ancient dichotomy he describes the development of an alternative means of handling death in S ren Kierkegaard and Martin Heidegger whose work on death tends to overshadow Kierkegaard s despite the undeniable influence exerted on him by the nineteenth century Dane Buben argues that Kierkegaard and Heidegger prescribe a peculiar way of living with death that offers a kind of compromise between the Platonic and the Epicurean strains

Training and Supervision for Counselling in Action Windy Dryden,Brian Thorne,1991-03-26 An excellent compilation Given the explosion in the demand for both counselling and supervision this book should be required reading for all those putting a toe in these complex waters However I think it is also a salutary guide for those already practising as trainers and supervisors I found the issues raised stimulated me to think again about my own practice and to profit from that exercise

Counselling The Journal of The British Association for Counselling Psychotherapy This accessible book explores the issues involved in both the training and supervision of counsellors and in the preparation of those who are to undertake supervisory and training roles The number of training courses is growing and counsellors must undergo supervision if they are to be accredited by professional bodies In this volume leading trainers and supervisors from different counselling traditions discuss the responsibilities and the professional and practical issues involved and a trainee and supervisee give an insider's view of what it feels like to be in these positions The closing chapter deals with the important issue of training for counsellor trainers and supervisors
