Teaching and Learning Argumentative Writing in High School English Language Arts Classrooms

George E. Newell, David Bloome, Alan Hirvela, 2015-06-05 Focused on the teaching and learning argumentative writing in grades 9-12, this important contribution to literacy education research and classroom practice offers a new perspective: a set of principled practices and case studies of excellent teaching. The case studies illustrate teaching and learning argumentative writing as the construction of knowledge and new understandings about experiences, ideas, and texts. Six themes key to teaching argumentative writing as a thoughtful, multi-leveled practice for deep learning and expression are presented: teaching and learning argumentative writing as social practice; teachers' epistemological beliefs about argumentative writing; variations in instructional chains; instructional conversations in support of argumentative writing as deep learning and appreciation of multiple perspectives; contextualized analysis of argumentative writing and the teaching and learning of argumentative writing; and the construction of rationalities.

Teaching English Through ELA, Mathematics, Science, and Social Studies Long Peng, 2022-07-21 Accessible and hands-on, this textbook provides a comprehensive introduction to teaching language through content, an approach known as Content-Based Language Teaching (CBLT). A content-based language-focused approach to teaching in the disciplines is essential to serving the language and disciplinary needs of English learners (ELs) in the classroom. Guided by learning standards and informed by research, this book demonstrates how content materials in the English Language Arts (ELA), Mathematics, Science, and Social Studies can be harnessed to develop the English language proficiency of ELs as well as advance their disciplinary knowledge and skills. Using content materials in ELA, Mathematics, Science, and Social Studies as a starting point, this textbook illustrates how to teach English as an additional language effectively by integrating language instruction with disciplinary teaching. It showcases numerous learning and instructional activities complete with targeted language exemplified in sentential and discourse contexts: direct instruction, teacher modeling, guided and individual practices, and assessments, which are further backed up by detailed discussions of their goals, rationales, and implementation. This textbook also features a discussion of differentiation to address the varied needs of students. To further assist readers in determining how to incorporate language instruction, Peng identifies extensive possibilities for language teaching that are based on the same content materials and beyond those targeted by sample learning activities. Each chapter ends with three types of exercises: multiple-choice questions, open-ended discussion questions, and problems of application to bolster understanding, promote reflection, and encourage application. Complementing the book are additional online resources, including ready-to-use PowerPoints, which are available on the book's webpage at Routledge.com/9780367521134. Covering key issues such as characteristics of effective language instruction, differentiation, and the challenges associated with CBLT, this is an essential text in TESOL methods and content-area language teaching as well as an invaluable resource for pre-service and in service ESL EFL teachers and content area teachers who are interested in furthering their students language and literacy development

The Power of Identity and Ideology in Language Learning Peter I. De Costa, 2016-05-09 This critical ethnographic school based case study offers insights on the interaction between ideology and the identity development of individual English language learners in Singapore Illustrated by case studies of the language learning experiences of five Asian immigrant students in an English medium school in Singapore the author examines how the immigrant students negotiated a standard English ideology and their discursive positioning over the course of the school year Specifically the study traces how the prevailing standard English ideology interacted in highly complex ways with their being positioned as high academic achievers to ultimately influence their learning of English This potent combination of language ideologies and circulating ideologies created a designer student immigration complex By framing this situation as a complex the study problematizes the power of ideologies in shaping the trajectories and identities of language learners
