Developing a Sustainable Built Environment in Emerging Economies Andrew Ebekozi,Clinton Ohis Aigbavboa,Wellington Didibhuku Thwala,2025-02-19 A Practical Research Process for Developing a Sustainable Built Environment in Emerging Economies aims to fill the dearth of practical research guidance and reference material with specific focus on the built environment in developing countries Global policy agendas such as Agenda 2030 the SDGs highlight the importance and growth of research and knowledge from emerging nations who are increasingly contributing to research that is critical for development and advancement The role of built environment practitioners will continue to evolve by building on the sound foundations laid down by the professions and by exploiting to the full the new technologies available to us through conducting innovative research but more guidance on the research process is necessary to ensure the integrity and quality of the output This book has been structured so that each chapter is largely free standing allowing the reader undergraduate postgraduate or practitioner to reference the material with ease It aims to provide practical guidance on conducting research and on writing a dissertation or report and begins by considering the general research background in a built environment context. It then covers research ethics before moving on to discuss the importance of selecting the right research topic and title and writing a clear abstract. The chapters then cover introducing a research project and the authors include a section on the problem statement, research questions, aims and objectives, research gaps and motivations for the study. The book goes on to cover the literature review, section, theoretical and conceptual frameworks, the various types of methodological approaches and when to apply them. The findings section, discussion of the results and the study's implications are then discussed before the final chapters cover the conclusion and recommendations. The book provides a useful reference for higher education students, graduates, postgraduates and practitioners engaged in all aspects of construction and built environment research.

Essentials of Scientific Writing Joseph Mugah, 2016-12-13. Essentials of Scientific Writing: How to Write Effective Titles and Abstracts for Research Papers and Proposals is a belated entrant into a vast and crucially important area with scarce reference materials. This scarcity manifested itself as I searched what I had expected would be useful source materials for the present book. I skimmed through many textbooks on scientific writing and editing, articles on the Internet and notes from courses on scientific writing. They all turned out to be manifestly wanting in both depth and scope. None extended beyond two pages and most were hardly a page long, so they were largely useless for my purposes. To the authors' knowledge, few published books treat the subjects of Titles and Abstracts in the kind of detail presented in this book. Accordingly, in developing the book, the author hoped to fill a void in the crucial area of facilitating sharing of knowledge and information from research work. It is my hope that everyone writing scientific work will endeavor to find space for the book on their shelves and will place it within arm's length whenever they are writing or editing the title or abstract.
