Research Paper Guidelines

Acknowledgement: This guideline was prepared using information from the Illinois Junior Science and Humanities Symposium.

Overview: The research paper is a written report describing original research results in science, mathematics, or engineering. The paper should rely on previously published literature primarily for background and comparative purposes.

Organization of Research Paper: Your paper should be organized as follows:

- Title page, or cover page
 - A short statement related to the content of the paper.
- Abstract
 - The abstract is a brief summary of the various aspects of the paper. The abstract should be about 200 words long, written in the past tense, and provide a brief overview in paragraph form of the following areas of the paper:
 - The purpose of the research or the research problem,
 - A general overview of how the problem was studied,
 - The principal findings and conclusions.
- Acknowledgments
 - The acknowledgments section is a short paragraph where the researcher describes the contributions of others to the research study (contribution of ideas, materials, procedures, analysis of data, etc.).
- Table of contents
 - The Table of Contents provides an outline that indicates the page location of the sections and subsections of the paper.
- List of tables and/or list of figures
 - Indicate the location of any tables or figures in the paper.
 - When making a List of Tables, include:
 - table numbers,
 - titles, and
 - page numbers.
 - When making a List of Figures, include:
 - figure numbers,
 - captions, and
 - page numbers.
- Introduction
 - The introduction provides background on the topic related to your research project, including the problem and the reason why you examined that topic. The introduction should provide sufficient information on the topic, using the literature that you read, so that the reader can understand your research project. The introduction should include the following:
 - A brief literature review. Cite and discuss previous research from relevant literature, and state how your research relates to or differs from others' work; and a series of checklists that lecturers can use to design their own rubrics for a variety of situations and content. It highlights varying perspectives from teachers, students, educational advisors, and curriculum managers while providing practical tips for developing and using rubrics. The objectives of the manual include guiding health sciences educators in providing useful, actionable, and efficient feedback to students on assignments using a structured format, i.e. using rubrics. Implementing a learning culture where giving rich feedback is standard practice. Using rubrics to increase quality of assessment of assignments, validity, reliability, transparency. Incorporating in the instructional setting latest insights in the appropriate use of rubrics in the health sciences education setting.

An Introduction to Scientific Research Methods in Geography and Environmental Studies Daniel Montello, Paul Sutton, 2012-12-10. Covers a broad range of subjects that undergraduates in the discipline should be familiar and comfortable with upon graduation. From chapters on the scientific method and fundamental research concepts to experimental design, sampling, and statistical analysis, the text offers an excellent introduction to the key concepts of geographical research. The content is applicable for students at the beginning of their studies right through to planning and conducting dissertations. The book has also been of particular support in designing my level 1 and 2 tutorials which cover similar ground to several of the chapters. Joseph Mallalieu, School of Geography, Leeds University. Montello and Sutton is one of the best texts I've used in seminars on research methodology. The text offers a clear balance of quantitative vs qualitative and physical vs human, which I've found particularly valuable. The chapters on research ethics, scientific communication, information technologies, and data visualization are excellent. Kenneth E. Foote, Department of Geography, University of Colorado at Boulder. This is a broad and integrative introduction to the conduct and interpretation of scientific research covering both geography and environmental studies. Written for undergraduate and postgraduate students, it explains both the conceptual and the technical aspects of research as well as all phases of the research process. Combines approaches in physical geography and environmental science, human geography, and human-environment relations and geographic and environmental information techniques such as GIS, cartography, and remote sensing. Combines natural and social scientific approaches common to subjects in geography and environmental studies. Includes case studies of actual research projects to demonstrate the breadth of approaches taken. It will be core reading for students studying scientific research methods in geography, environmental studies, and related disciplines such as planning and earth science.
