Recount

A recount tells about events that have happened to you or other people. Recounts can be fiction or non-fiction.

Title	A brief name for the experience or event	→
Orientation	Tells where and when the event began and sets the scene	→
Events	Tells the events in the order they happened	→
Ending	Tells how the experience ended and how you now have about it	→

A Trip to the Cinema

My friend James and I went to the cinema to watch an Saturday afternoon TV news reality series.

When we arrived we bought popcorn to eat while in 3D on the screen. After we went we bought drinks and sweets. Popcorn is my favourite and I got a large bag!

Finally we went to the theatre and found our seats. The film began.

The film was so good! I really liked the 3D effects and the characters were really funny. It was a great day!

[illegible]

Narrative

A narrative retells events. Narratives are often fiction, eg. stories, but may include some information about real events. Each part or event is in a separate paragraph.

Title	Introduces the main characters and the setting.	→
Setting	The starting point of the story. It tells where the action takes place and when the story is written.	→
Complication (Beginning event or problem)	The event that starts the action and introduces the characters in some problem. The complication develops up the characters and the problem.	→
Resolution	Tells how the problem is solved.	→
Ending	Tells what has come from the experience.	→

Explanation

Explanation texts tell how something works. They are used in all the arts and sciences. Explanations have five parts to their frameworks.

Title	This is a short description of something about the topic.	➔
Definition	Defines the thing or process.	➔
Description	Describes the parts or elements of the process.	➔
How does it work or function?	Describes the parts or elements in the process.	➔
Application	Presents the subject conditions or problems.	➔

How do our Bodies Move?

The body can perform many actions to move in order to survive and respond to its environment. Different systems in the body work together to perform these actions.

For example, when a person walks, their muscles are used to move the body forward. The brain sends signals to the muscles to contract and relax. The heart pumps blood to the muscles to provide them with energy. The lungs take in oxygen and release carbon dioxide. The digestive system breaks down food into nutrients that the body can use for energy.

Understanding how the body works can help us understand how to stay healthy and active. It can also help us understand how to treat injuries and diseases.

Writing Genres Posters:

Handbook of Writing Research , Genre-Based Writing Christine Tardy, 2023-06-22 In Genre Based Writing author Christine Tardy defines genre and genre based writing instruction and the five principles of a genre based pedagogy She then explains how to design genre based writing activities By discussing the genre related practices and social and rhetorical aspects of genre she is able to outline strategies for exploring rhetorical moves and playing with genre form in the classroom In addition the book provides general tips for bringing a genre approach into the writing classroom as well as several application activities and specific suggestions for classroom tasks A Practical Guide to Scientific Writing in Chemistry Andrew Terhemen Tyowua, 2023-03-31 Successful completion of postgraduate studies especially PhD and career advancement in academia strongly depend on the ability to publish scientific papers or books and attract research grants However many chemical scientists find preparing scientific papers and research grant and book proposals difficult partly because of insufficient training in writing and partly because there are few practical books to enable them to learn the art This step by step practical guide is intended mainly for postgraduate students and early career researchers in chemical science and the libraries that serve them but will also be useful to other scientists Key Features Improves the reader's chances of getting their manuscript published in chemistry journals Increases the likelihood of winning research grants in chemistry Takes a lead by the hand approach Contains chapters on the preparation of graphical abstracts and research highlights Uses sketches and other illustration styles to aid mental visualization of concepts Contains practical examples taken from published papers and successful research grant proposals Genre in World Language Education Francis Troyan, 2020-10-29 Ideal for methods and foundational courses in world languages education this book presents a theoretically informed instructional framework for instruction and assessment of world languages In line with ACTFL and CEFR standards this volume brings together scholarship on contextualized task based performance assessment and instruction with a genre theory and pedagogy to walk through the steps of designing and implementing effective genre based instruction Chapters feature step by step lesson designs models of performance assessment and a wealth of practical and research based examples on how to make languages explicit to students through a focus on genre Including sections on Arabic French Spanish Italian and other major world languages this book demonstrates how to effectively teach and assess world languages in the classroom Early Years Non-fiction Margaret Mallett, 2003 How do we make sure children's first introduction to the world of non fiction is enjoyable and life enhancing What criteria do we use to ensure a collection of quality books for pleasure Mallett sets out to answer these questions in this book Doctoral Writing Susan Carter, Cally Guerin, Claire Aitchison, 2020-01-01 This book on doctoral writing offers a refreshingly new approach to help Ph D students and their supervisors overcome the host of writing challenges that can make or break the dissertation process The book's unique contribution to the field of doctoral writing is its style of reflection on ongoing lived practice this is more readable than a simple how to book making it a welcome resource to support doctoral writing The experiences and practices of research writing are explored through bite sized vignettes stories and actionable teachable accounts Doctoral Writing Practices Processes and Pleasures has its origins in a highly successful academic blog with an international following Inspired by the popularity of the blog which had more than 14 800 followers as of October 2019 and a desire to make our six years worth of posts more accessible this book has been authored reworked and curated by the three editors of the blog and reconceived as a conveniently structured book

ESL Readers and Writers in Higher Education Norman W. Evans, Neil J Anderson, William G. Eggington, 2015-06-12 ESL Readers and Writers in Higher Education describes the challenges ESL students in U S postsecondary institutions face when studying in a second language and offers suggestions for how teachers advisors tutors and institutions might provide support that meets the reading and writing needs of this very important student population Because the ESL profession as a whole including what professionals are doing in the classroom sits under the umbrella of an institutional response to a language related challenge some solutions aimed at helping students achieve optimal proficiency lie outside of the classroom As such this book is based on the assertion that language development support is not the sole responsibility of language teachers Everyone on campuses that hosts ESL students bears some responsibility for these students language development Chapters are therefore intentionally adapted to appeal to a wide variety of readers from classroom teachers and teachers in training to admissions officers academic advisors and international student advisors
