

MONOLOGUES
THE CRUCIBLE* by Arthur Miller

FEMALE ROLES:

1. ABIGAIL Williams

(Act I – Betty Paris is in a trance-like state at home in bed. She has also been throwing fits, as if she's possessed. This all started when the girls snuck out to the woods; they danced and they got Tituba to practice some type of voodoo magic to talk to the dead and cast a spell to kill Elizabeth Proctor. Abigail is in love with Elizabeth's husband, John, and wants to take her place. The town suspects that Betty's bewitched, and Abigail wants all of the girls to keep quiet about the spell against Elizabeth, because she doesn't want to be accused of being a witch.)

Now look you. All of you. We danced, And Tituba conjured Ruth Putnam's dead sisters. And that is all. And mark this—let either of you breath a word, or the edge of a word about the other things, and I will come on you in the black of some terrible night and I will bring a pointy reckoning that will shudder you. And you know I can do it, I saw Indians smash my dear parents' heads on the pillow next to mine, and I have seen some reddish work done at night, and I can make you wish you had never seen the sun go down!!! Now you... Betty, sit up and stop this!!!

2. Rebecca Nurse

(Act I – Rebecca has just entered the room of the sick child, Betty. Ann and Thomas Putnam, Reverend Parris, John Proctor, Giles Corey, and Abigail Williams are in the room as well. Everyone except John Proctor and Abigail Williams just came flying into the room, because Betty was having a fit. While everyone else panicked, Rebecca went to the child and got her to lay back down quietly.)

Pray, calm yourselves. I have eleven children, and I am twenty-six times a grandma, and I have seen them all through their silly seasons, and when it come on them they will run the Devil bowlegged keeping up with their mischief. I think she'll wake when she tires of it. A child's spirit is like a child, you can never catch it by running after it; you must stand still, and for love it will soon itself come back. Mr. Parris, I hope you are not decided to go in search of loose spirits. I've heard promise of that outside.

3. Ann Putnam

(Act I – Ann and Thomas Putnam just arrived at the Parris' house to see what is going on with Betty, the sick child. Their daughter, Ruth, is also stricken with this mysterious illness. They are convinced that it is witchcraft at work in Salem. They have come to the Parris house to make sure that Reverend Parris starts an inquiry to call out witches in their community.)

Reverend Parris, I have laid seven babies unbaptized in the earth. Believe me, sir, you never saw more hearty babies born. And yet, each would wither in my arms the very night of their birth. I have spoke nothin', but my heart has clamored intimations. And now, this year, my Ruth, my only – I see her turning strange. A secret child she has become this year, and shrivels like a sucking mouth were pullin' on her life too. And so I thought to send her to your Tituba – Tituba knows how to speak to the dead, Mr. Parris. Who else may surely tell us what person murdered my babies? They were murdered, Mr. Parris! And mark this proof! Mark it! Last night my Ruth were ever so close to their little spirits; I know it, sir. For how else is she struck dumb now except some power of darkness would stop her mouth? It is a marvelous sign, Mr. Parris!
