Ernest Hemingway's The Old Man And The Sea

R.N. Singh, 1999. The Old Man And The Sea is undoubtedly one of the true classics of our generation. It marks the triumph of Hemingway as a literary artist. The greatest quality of this book is that it cannot be vitiated by public distortion in another medium for film purposes. It is in this book that Hemingway came to terms with himself and his universe and gave meaning to his private and individual existence. Since the publication of this novelette in 1952, it was so widely read and talked about that it earned its author the Pulitzer Prize the same year and was instrumental in winning him the Nobel Prize two years later. Since then so much has been written on this book that it is very difficult, if not impossible, to say or write something new about this symbolic romance. Nevertheless, the author harbours the feeling that the material dished out by foreign critics is not easily digestible and up to the academic requirements of the students of Indian universities. It is in view of this that an endeavour is made to rehash, adapt and tailor the old literary material, taking into account the intellectual size, emotional response and academic need of our students. However, it is not like an old wine in a new bottle. Every effort has been made to add a new flavour to the old wine against the backdrop of our Indian ethos.
