Credit Method Compatibility and Constraints under EU Law Rita Julien, 2022-01-13 As European Union EU Member States seek to counteract base erosion and profit shifting BEPS practices while avoiding new obstacles to the EU's internal market such as double taxation the credit method also known as the foreign tax credit is one of the essential tools in this balancing act yet it is one that has given rise to various EU law challenges and questions This invaluable book the first in depth study of the EU law constraints on designing the credit method delineates the EU law boundaries within which the Member States must operate when they implement this method of tax relief For the first time the Court of Justice of the European Union CJEU cases that may affect directly or indirectly the credit method and its main components are systematically identified and analysed in order to extract the legal findings and principles that define the contours within which the Member States can manoeuvre when considering EU compatible approaches to the credit method To this end among others this book offers an extensive study of the historical legal developments of the credit method an overview of the key design features of the credit method considering the optional variable components such as the credit limitation maximum creditable amount that tailor it to different legal and policy considerations an analysis of the legal constraints on the key features of the credit method flowing from CJEU case law on the fundamental freedoms considering the impact of landmark cases and concepts e.g. Schumacker neutralization the EU law implications based on the type of credit method direct indirect imputation and the feature of the credit method e.g. credit limitation, credit carryforward and examples to clearly and concisely illustrate the basic operation of the credit method and some of the main calculation and EU law issues. The author's doctoral dissertation on which the book is based was awarded the Wolfgang Gassner Science Prize 2020 and the European Doctoral Tax Thesis Award 2020. As a timely comprehensive and practical study of the relationship between the credit method and EU law, this book will be welcomed by lawyers and other professionals working with taxation matters as well as by tax policymakers and academics in the fields of international and European tax law.

Towards a Neutral Formulary Apportionment System in Regional Integration Shu-Chien Chen, 2023-03-09. International tax regimes and practices are heavily criticized for failing to fairly levy corporate tax on giant multinational taxpayers in the current globalized and digitalized world. This important and far-seeing book demonstrates how formulary apportionment (FA), an approach by which a multinational corporation pays each jurisdiction's corporate tax based on the share of its worldwide income allocated to that jurisdiction, can achieve the much-sought goal of aligning value creation and taxation. The author, through an intensive analysis of the European Union's EU's Common Consolidated Corporate Tax Base (CCCTB) Directive Proposal's and comparison to the United States' US's formulary apportionment experience, shows how the perceived problems with an FA system can be overcome and lays out the necessary elements for its feasibility. With detailed attention to the debates around formulary apportionment and its theoretical foundations, the book provides a blueprint for rebuilding the normative framework for the EU's tax reform by clearly analysing the implications of the following and more theorising public benefits to be represented by taxation: reorganising different economic theories about tax neutrality and tax justice; advancing the comparative research methodology to analyse law reform by combining the functional approach and the problem-solving approach; designing the logical formulary apportionment system for digital economy; ensuring the removal of the incentive for multinationals to shift reported income to low-tax locations; reducing the tax system's complexity and the administrative burden it imposes on firms; eliminating transfer pricing complexity for intra-firm transactions; achieving equal weighting of the sales factor, the labour factor and the asset factor in the formula; application of destination-based rule for attributing the sales factor; and replacing the traditional permanent establishment nexus with a factor presence nexus. The presentation incorporates extensive comparison between the EU's formulary apportionment tax reform option and FA systems existing in the United States' US at state level, including reference to relevant US case law and legislation. As a possible option to address the problem of base erosion and profit shifting (BEPS), formulary apportionment is gaining increasing acceptance and attention. This book will prove invaluable to taxation authorities, tax practitioners and scholars in its deeply informed and systematic guidance on good practices and prevention of problematic experiences in establishing and implementing an effective and market-neutral FA system.
