Some of the answers below may differ in format but have the same value as your result. Please check with your instructor if a specific format is desired.

Chapter 6

- 6-1. A 0.005-g sample of a rock is to be analyzed, and iron is to be determined at the ppm level. Determine the type of analysis and type of constituent.

Answer:

The sample size is in the micro range and the analyte level is in the trace range. Hence, the analysis is a micro analysis of a trace constituent.

- 6-3. Describe the steps in a sampling operation.

Answer:

Step 1: Identify the population from which the sample is to be drawn.

Step 2: Collect the gross sample.

Step 3: Reduce the gross sample to a laboratory sample, which is a small quantity of homogeneous material.

- 6-5. The following results were obtained for the determination of calcium in a NIST limestone sample: %CaO = 51.33, 51.22, 51.36, 51.21, and 51.44. Five gross samples were then obtained for a carload of limestone. The average percent CaO values for the gross samples were found to be 48.53, 50.75, 48.60, 48.87, and 50.29. Calculate the relative standard deviation associated with the sampling step.

Solution:

$$s_{\text{tot}}^2 = s_{\text{r}}^2 + s_{\text{m}}^2$$

$$\text{From the NIST sample: } s_{\text{m}}^2 = 0.00947$$

$$\text{From the gross sample: } s_{\text{r}}^2 = 1.073$$

$$\text{The relative standard deviation} = \left(\frac{s_{\text{r}}}{\bar{x}} \right) \times 100\% = \left(\frac{1.0313}{51.312} \right) \times 100\% = 2.01\%$$

- 6-7. Changes in the method used to coat the tablets in Problem 6-6 lowered the percentage of rejects from 8.0% to 3.0%. How many tablets should be taken for inspection if the permissible relative standard deviation in the measurement is to be

Solution Manual Too Skoog:

Prospects and Applications for Plant-Associated Microbes, A laboratory manual Seppo Sorvari, Anna Maria Pirttilä, 2014-12-15 Research on the microbial colonization of the aerial and subterranean tissues of plants has shown an extensive scale of interactions between the hosts and a range of microbes including bacteria and fungi. Intercellular spaces, vascular systems and even single cells can be inhabited by these endophytic microbes. Of the bacterial endophytes, only a small percentage is harmful to the plant; most are neutral, opportunistic or beneficial. These plant-based bacteria can have various important functions throughout the life cycle of the plant: some promote plant growth and development, others protect the plant from diseases. This ability to be able to protect plants from diseases has catalyzed numerous laboratories to search for new bacteria that could be utilized instead of the traditional plant protective agents. Because two or more interacting organisms are involved, research and the eventual application of suitable biocontrolling microbes are challenging and often require specific skills and equipment. The purpose of this book is to provide a comprehensive review for those who are interested in the research and biotechnological applications of plant-associated bacteria. It also provides a compilation of current work conducted on plant-bacteria interactions. Plant Tissue Culture Manual - Supplement 7 K.

Lindsey, 2013-11-11 Plant tissue culture has a long history dating back to the work of Gottlieb Haberlandt and others at the end of the 19th century, but the associated concepts and techniques have reached a level of usefulness and application which has never been greater. The technical innovations have given new insights into fundamental aspects of plant differentiation and development and have paved the way to the identification of strategies for the genetic manipulation of plants. It is the aim of this manual to deliver a broad range of these techniques in a form which is accessible to students and research scientists of diverse backgrounds, including those with little or no previous experience. The themes of the manual aim to reflect those research areas which have been advanced by tissue culture technology. As was the case for the sister volume Plant Molecular Biology Manual, the objective has been from the start to produce a manual which is at home on the laboratory bench. The plastic-covered ring-bound format has proved to be most popular and is retained here. Equally, the emphasis has been on producing a collection of detailed step-by-step protocols, each supplemented with an introductory text and practical footnotes to provide the next best thing to a supervisor at one's shoulder. Plant Cell, Tissue and Organ Culture Oluf Gamborg, Gregory C. Phillips, 2013-06-29 This manual provides all relevant protocols for basic and applied plant cell and molecular technologies such as histology, electron microscopy, cytology, virus diagnosis, gene transfer and PCR. Also included are chapters on laboratory facilities, operation and management, as well as a glossary and all the information needed to set up and carry out any of the procedures without having to use other resource books. It is especially designed for professionals and advanced students who wish to acquire practical skills and first-hand experience in plant biotechnology.

Doubled Haploid Production in Crop Plants M. Maluszynski, Kenneth Kasha, B.P. Forster, I. Szarejko, 2013-06-29 The production of doubled haploids has become a necessary tool in advanced plant breeding institutes and commercial companies for breeding many crop species. However, the development of new more efficient and cheaper large scale production protocols has meant that doubled haploids are also recently being applied in less advanced breeding programmes. This Manual was prepared to stimulate the wider use of this technology for speeding and opening up new breeding possibilities for many crops including some woody tree species. Since the construction of genetic maps using molecular markers requires the development of segregating doubled haploid populations in numerous crop species, we hope that this Manual will also help molecular biologists in establishing such mapping populations. For many years both the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) and the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) have supported and coordinated research that focuses on development of more efficient doubled haploid production methods and their applications in breeding of new varieties and basic research through their Plant Breeding and Genetics Section of the Joint FAO/IAEA Division of Nuclear Techniques in Food and Agriculture. The first FAO/IAEA scientific network Coordinated Research Programme (CRP) dealing with doubled haploids was initiated by the Plant Breeding and Genetics Section in 1986.
