
ACS PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY THERMOCHEMISTRY STUDY GUIDE

- Which direction does the reaction proceed if G is positive?: To the left / to reactants
- Which direction does the reaction proceed if G is negative?: To the right/ to products
- How to predict $S(\text{system})$? (change in entropy of a system): Positive $S(\text{system})$ means available microstates increases/disorder increases
- How to calculate the S_o (aka standard entropy change) of the formation of one mole of gas from its elements?: 1. Write the balanced chemical equation with the proper coefficients that make the product ONE MOLE.

2. Find the value of the one mole of product in Appendix B. This is the $\Delta S(\text{standard})$ for the product.

3. Find the value of the reactants in Appendix B for $\Delta S(\text{standard})$ and multiply them by the coefficients you got in step 1.

4. Use $\text{total} = \text{products} - \text{reactants}$ for your final value.

- How to calculate G (free energy) using enthalpy H and entropy S values?-

$$: \Delta G = \Delta H - T\Delta S$$

- What is the equation that relates G to K ?: $\Delta G = -RT \ln K$
- What is the Boltzmann constant?: $\ln(\# \text{ of microstates})$
- What does a big W mean?: More microstates

- What does more microstates mean?: Big ΔS - more entropy

- What does fewer microstates mean?: Smaller ΔS - less entropy

- What happens to entropy when volume is increased?: Microstates increase, entropy increases

- What is the relationship between S

of a system, q , and T ?: ΔS

$$(\text{system}) = q_{\text{rev}}/T$$

- What happens to entropy S when temperature increases?: It increases

- What is the relationship between mass and entropy S ?: As mass increases, entropy increases

- What is the relationship between molecular complexity and entropy S ?: As molecular complexity increases, entropy increases

- What is the relationship between G and Q ?: $\Delta G = RT \ln Q$

The strong trend in the Biological Sciences towards a quantitative characterization of processes has promoted an increased use of thermodynamic reasoning This development arises not only from the well known power of thermodynamics to predict the direction of chemical change but also from the realization that knowledge of quantitative thermodynamic parameters provides a deeper understanding of many biochemical problems The present treatise is concerned primarily with building up a reliable data base particularly of biotermodynamic and related quantities such as partial specific volumes and compressibilities which will help scientists in basic and applied research to choose correct data in a special field that may not be their own Most chapters reflect this emphasis on data provision However it was also felt that the expert user deserved information on the basic methodology of data acquisition and on the criteria of data selection Therefore all tables are preceded by a critical evaluation of the techniques as well as a survey of the pertinent studies in the corresponding areas The surveys are usually self consistent and provide references to further sources of data that are important but not covered in the present volume The reader will realize that in different chapters different symbols have been used for the same properties

This unfortunate situation is particularly obvious in those chapters where partial specific or molar quantities had to be introduced however it also occurs in those contributions concerning phase changes of macromolecules The School World,1908 The Athenaeum James Silk Buckingham,John Sterling,Frederick Denison Maurice,Henry Stebbing,Charles Wentworth Dilke,Thomas Kibble Hervey,William Hepworth Dixon,Norman Maccoll,Vernon Horace Rendall,John Middleton Murry,1899 Descriptions of Education Manuals Prepared Or Selected by the Editorial Staff of the United States Armed Forces Institute United States Armed Forces Institute,1945
