

Critical Review Structure

Critical reviews, both short (one page) and long (four pages), usually have a similar structure. Check your assignment instructions for formatting and structural specifications. You need to write a critical review not more than 2000 words. Please use the following structure for your own critical review. Choose one of the following journals attached. There are FIVE journals that you may choose ONLY ONE and review based on your own interest. Font size of your review should be 12, doubled space, and in Times New Roman Style. Put your identity and NIM in your work (don't forget to have a cover).

Introduction

The length of an introduction is usually one paragraph for a journal article review and two or three paragraphs for a longer book review. Include a few opening sentences that announce the author(s) and the title, and briefly explain the topic of the text. Present the aim of the text and summarize the main finding or key argument. Conclude the introduction with a brief statement of your evaluation of the text. This can be a positive or negative evaluation or, as is usually the case, a mixed response.

Summary

Present a summary of the key points along with a limited number of examples. You can also briefly explain the author's purpose/intentions throughout the text and you may briefly describe how the text is organized. The summary should only make up about a third of the critical review.

Critique

The critique should be a balanced discussion and evaluation of the strengths, weakness and notable features of the text. Remember to base your discussion on specific criteria. Good reviews also include other sources to support your evaluation (remember to reference).

You can choose how to sequence your critique. Here are some examples to get you started:

Orlando, Ara Jo, Velyn Wu, 2025-05-21

Body composition like excess adiposity and muscle mass has been shown to be associated with the risk of diseases including diabetes cancer and cardiovascular disease Moreover body composition is directly associated with mortality risk Consequently assessment of a patient s body composition is one of the most common risk stratification variables that is collected In particular body mass index BMI is assessed for essentially every adult and is used to drive treatment decisions However BMI which is easy to measure in a doctor s office and a standard measurement to define obesity has been shown to have some limitations as a risk predictor for different populations For example BMI is not as predictive in Asian populations who may have a higher proportion of visceral fat and increased risk of cardiometabolic disorder Similarly as patients age they tend to lose lean muscle mass which may contribute to disease risk and healthy patients with a muscular physique may have an elevated BMI This has led to concepts like sarcopenic obesity and normal weight obesity BMI is a screening tool and clinicians should be aware of proper use of BMI when counselling patients and other assessments of body composition
