

Why I Want To Be A Dental Assistant?

6 pages | 1281 words

I want to be very happy my entire life and enjoy coming into work with full of excitement. This career I think would be perfect for me, and other people think so also, I am great with kids, I like working as a team, partners are a great way to start a friendship and helping each other out with some basic or challenging problems. I also like being a assistant in general, in high school, I love helping out in the office with details and being organized. I hope in college I stick with this career choice and it goes easy breezy. South Central absolutely has this degree, for me to pursue this career/profession. Under the awards and degrees, they have the Dental Assisting AAS Degree and the Dental Assisting Diploma. In the the Degree program, they have the list of every required class you need to take and optional courses. They have lots of basic medical courses that I need to take that will take a short period of time. The Diploma has a 9 month program that you can get at some certain jobs. I don't need an advanced degree, this degree is for a two year. My college offers dental programs but you can always get more by moving forward in your education. Some qualifications are To be eligible to take the CDA exam, applicants must hold a current CPR certification and meet one of the following qualifications: have graduated from an accredited dental assisting/dental hygiene program, have a high school diploma, or equivalent, and a minimum of 3,500 hours of approved work experience. The average hourly rate for Dental Assistant ranges from $16 to $19 with the average hourly pay of $18. The total hourly pay is $18. The total hourly compensation, which includes bonus, health and retirement, can vary anywhere from $16 to $20 with the average total hour. As a Dental Assistant, you can move up with a different person you work with a different person you work with, or move up to bigger corporation. Being your best on the job, can give you greater position. Be proactive. In a busy dental office, there is always something to do. Look around and spot what needs to be done, whether it is straightening the waiting room, restocking inventory, or talking to a patient who appears nervous. Be a good listener and ask questions. Dental assistants are in a position of assisting others. For this reason, they need to be particularly good listeners. If the dentist or hygienist asks you to do something, be sure to listen carefully, think it through, and ask any questions that you might have. Remember, it's better to ask questions than to make a guess and do it wrong. Be observant and organized during procedures. Many dental assistants are expected to sit chairside and assist the dentist during dental procedures. There can be fast changes of instruments and multiple tasks that need to be done at the same time. When the procedure begins, be observant. Try to anticipate what the dentist might need. Stay organized so you know where every instrument...

the thousands of qualified applicants to the nation's top medical schools a serious candidate must find a way to set himself or herself apart from the crowd. The essay is your one chance to highlight the personal qualities and achievements that the application and MCAT scores do not reveal. As Essays That Worked for Medical Schools demonstrates, there is no such thing as the perfect submission. The winning essays cover a wide range of interesting topics. If there is any similarity, it is that they are written from the heart. One applicant writes about his work as a counselor for mentally ill adults and teens. Another tells about the life-changing experience of delivering much-needed supplies to a leprosy village in West Africa. And a third applicant talks about time spent volunteering at a local senior center. From the thousands submitted each year, the essays in this book were considered some of the best by admissions officers at the nation's top medical schools. With creativity and effort, you can turn almost any topic into an effective, successful essay for your medical school application.
