Cultural Autobiography: A Tool to Multicultural Discovery of Self

Heewon Chang
Eastern College

This article describes how the author utilizes the genre of autobiography in her Multicultural Education class to help students discover cultural influences in their and others' lives through writing and sharing. She believes this self-reflective process is an important step toward becoming effective multicultural educators.

Self-reflection is gaining popularity in multicultural education as a way of understanding self and others (Tiedt and Tiedt, 1999; Reed-Danahay, 1997). I also incorporate self-reflection in the form of cultural autobiography into my undergraduate and graduate teaching of multicultural education at Eastern College. The main goal of this writing assignment is twofold: to challenge students to reflect on events and life experiences that have shaped their cultural premises, and to have them share their reflections in class so that cultural diversity among them may be discovered in a natural way. This assignment demands that students unravel their cultural assumptions critically.

WRITING

I advise students to be guided by Goodenough's definition of culture (1981) as they prepare for this cultural autobiography. I provide for this assignment a guideline, which includes the definition, as follows:

Cultural autobiography is a reflective, self-analytic story of your past and present. First, narrate your life experiences that you consider of significance in shaping your worldview. You may include typical and/or exceptional events from your childhood, school years, religious life, family life, etc.; memorable encounters with individuals of various backgrounds; etc. Second, analyze how these experiences have shaped your culture--standards for thinking, valuing, behaving and evaluating (Goodenough, 1981)--and interpret the cultural meanings of these experiences to you. The narration and analytic interpretation may or may not be separated in your writing. Lastly, reflect on the process of writing the cultural autobiography. How has this process helped you discover your multiculturalness?

Submit the cultural autobiography in 5 to 10 double-space typed pages. Since I am interested in seeing how you are able to reflect on and examine your own cultural assumptions, which is important in becoming an effective teacher in a multicultural environment, you will not get a good grade by simply narrating how your life has been. To be able to do a meaningful interpretation of your past and present, you need to have a clear understanding of how one's culture is constituted and how one becomes multicultural.

Questioning Assumptions and Challenging Perceptions Connie L. Schaffer, Meg White, Corine Meredith Brown, 2016-01-15 For a moment consider you don t know what you don t know What individuals know about urban schools is often based on assumptions and perceptions It is important for individuals to examine these assumptions and perceptions of urban schools and the students who attend them While many textbooks support how teachers should teach students in urban settings this book asserts individuals can be effective teachers in these settings only if they first develop an understanding urban schools and the students who attend them As readers progress through the chapters they will realize they don t know what they don t know Within a framework of cognitive dissonance readers will continuously examine and reexamine their personal beliefs and perceptions Readers will also investigate new information and varied perspectives related to urban schools When readers finish this book they will be on their way to becoming effective teachers in urban environments Culturally Proficient Leadership Raymond D. Writing Outside the Nation Azade

Seyhan, 2012-01-06 Some of the most innovative writers of contemporary literature are writing in diaspora in their second or third language Here Azade Seyhan describes the domain of transnational poetics they inhabit She begins by examining the works of selected bilingual and bicultural writers of the United States including Oscar Hijuelos Maxine Hong Kingston and Eva Hoffman and Germany Libuse Monkov Rafik Schami and E S Zdamar among others developing a new framework for understanding the relationship between displacement memory and language Considering themes of loss witness translation identity and exclusion Seyhan interprets diasporic literatures as condensed archives of cultural and linguistic memory that give integrity and coherence to pasts ruptured by migration The book next compares works by contemporary Chicana and Turkish German women writers as innovative and sovereign literary voices within the larger national cultures of the United States and Germany Seyhan identifies in American multiculturalism critical clues for analyzing new cultural formations in Europe and maintains that Germany's cultural transformation suggests new ways of reading the American literary mosaic Her approach however extends well beyond these two literatures She creates a critical map of a third geography where a transnational multilingual literary movement is gathering momentum Writing Outside the Nation both contributes to and departs from postcolonial studies in that it focuses specifically on transnational writers working outside of their mother tongue and compares American and German diasporic literatures within a sophisticated conceptual framework It illustrates how literature's symbolic economy can reclaim lost personal and national histories as well as connect disparate and distant cultural traditions prison writings in order to challenge canonization in history and literature this volume argues that women's lives and words offer a different view of gender and nation as well as offer a fuller and more inclusive archive of Irish history and literature. Additionally, this book will point to the ways in which their politics of everyday life and their cultural work is a form of anti-colonial civil rights feminism for it speaks truth to power in a world in which compliance and silence are valued. Overall, this text focuses on rethinking and recasting women's voices and words in order to document and promote the ongoing Irish freedom struggle from an abolitionist feminist perspective. Romanticism and Slave Narratives Helen Thomas, 2000-04-27

The first major attempt to relate canonical Romantic texts to writings of the African diaspora. Resistance and the Sermon in American Literature Matthew Smalley, 2024-05-30 With seemingly obsessive regularity American authors from the mid nineteenth century to the present evoke the sermon at culturally loaded moments in their works deploying the form to underscore the cultural work they imagine their novels or poetry to perform. Examining this longstanding tradition of literary preaching this book draws on literary applications of design theory to provide a nuanced account of American literature's complex anxious and persistent engagement with the Protestant sermon. Analyzing literary preaching as a transhistorical form that simultaneously attracts and repels authors Smalley demonstrates how major US writers Ralph Waldo Emerson Walt Whitman Nathaniel Hawthorne Rebecca Harding Davis William Faulkner Zora Neale Hurston and Toni Morrison have subverted the sermon's predominantly religious content in order to reimagine profound moments of reform in a political cultural and aesthetic mode. This study elucidates new lines of literary kinship offers fresh readings of familiar works and establishes literary preaching as an undertheorized but significant tradition in American literature. Early Childhood Development: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications Management Association, Information Resources, 2018-12-07 A focus on the developmental progress of children before the age of eight helps to inform their future successes including their personality social behavior and intellectual capacity.
