Knowledge Co-Construction in Online Learning Charlotte Nirmalani Gunawardena, Nick V. Flor, Damien M. Sánchez, 2025-04-09 Knowledge Co-Construction in Online Learning is a comprehensive foundational resource that explores the study of social construction of knowledge through platforms, social dynamics and other aspects of today's technology-enhanced education. The interactive spaces from formal computer-supported collaborative learning settings to informal social media integrative environments that comprise asynchronous online learning offer a rich source of data for analyzing teaching and learning. How then can researchers and designers in educational technology, instructional design, the learning sciences and beyond most effectively analyze the content and data generated by these complex co-creations of knowledge? Grounded in sociocultural and social constructivist theories of learning and driven by the globally renowned Interaction Analysis Model, this book applies statistical and computational methods to study the group interactions and social networks that yield newly constructed knowledge during virtual learning experiences. Its unique Social Learning Analytic Methods enhance the analysis of social dynamics that support knowledge construction so often missing from mainstream learning analytics. Holistic and cyclical in its approach to online learning experiences, this essential volume written for novice and experienced researchers transcends the field's research paradigm conflicts, blends qualitative and quantitative approaches with new digital media tools and exemplifies how research questions and designs can incorporate and automate evolving forms of inquiry.

Writing to Explore David Somoza, Peter Lourie, 2010 In Writing to Explore, David and Peter demonstrate how to teach adventure writing which integrates nonfiction and fiction and motivates students to write with imagination, curiosity and a hunger to learn everything about their topic. The book starts with a solid foundation in the basics of good writing: setting, descriptions, writing atmosphere and character development. The authors then explore the specific elements of adventure writing from setting the stage to conducting research from combining history and geography to effectively utilizing technology. The result is an adventure-based paper that is rooted in real places, supported by facts and developed with detailed description of images from real locations. Teachers will find handouts, sample activities, student writing examples, research sources and tips to help them create a nonfiction writing program based around the adventure writing model. Research papers don't have to be boring to read or to write. This book will show you how to get vibrant papers from your students' papers that teach both reader and writer something new.
