

PERSPECTIVE

Good readers understand that perspective influences point of view when telling a story.

Perspective is a person's experiences, background knowledge, preferences, feelings, and thoughts. Everyone's perspective is unique!

Example:

A big dog is walking down the street without a leash or its owner.

Sally - has a pet dog at home that looks similar.

John - Was bitten by a dog last year.

➡ How will they react differently?
How will each of them talk about this later?
How will they feel if it happened again?

Remember:

When you are asked to rewrite a story from a different point of view, you must consider the perspective of the characters. Write thoughts, actions, and feelings that reflect that perspective.

Writing A Perspective Paper:

A Practical Guide to Scientific Writing in Chemistry Andrew Terhemen Tyowua, 2023-03-31 Successful completion of postgraduate studies especially PhD and career advancement in academia strongly depend on the ability to publish scientific papers or books and attract research grants However many chemical scientists find preparing scientific papers and research grant and book proposals difficult partly because of insufficient training in writing and partly because there are few practical books to enable them to learn the art This step by step practical guide is intended mainly for postgraduate students and early career researchers in chemical science and the libraries that serve them but will also be useful to other scientists Key Features Improves the reader's chances of getting their manuscript published in chemistry journals Increases the likelihood of winning research grants in chemistry Takes a lead by the hand approach Contains chapters on the preparation of graphical abstracts and research highlights Uses sketches and other illustration styles to aid mental visualization of concepts Contains practical examples taken from published papers and successful research grant proposals Writing the Research Paper Philip M. McCarthy, Khawlah Ahmed, 2021-12-30 Covering both theoretical and practical approaches Writing the Research Paper guides students studying in English as a second or additional language through the skills necessary for success in university level writing and research The book begins with theoretical considerations such as research argumentation and critical thinking It then offers a broad range of practical assistance covering all aspects of the writing process including topic selection argument counter argument paragraph structure and cohesion The book is accompanied by a companion website writingtheresearchpaper.com The website hosts many features including chapter summaries exercises quizzes PowerPoints additional learning material and technology assistance The website also hosts numerous authentic examples of student papers at each of the critical stages of the writing process Writing and Learning in

Cross-national Perspective David Foster, 2017-10-03 Despite the increasingly global implications of conversations about writing and learning U S composition studies has devoted little attention to cross national perspectives on student writing and its roles in wider cultural contexts Caught up in our own concerns about how U S students make the transition as writers from secondary school to postsecondary education we often overlook the fact that students around the world are undergoing the same evolution How do the students in China England France Germany Kenya or South Africa the educational systems represented in this collection write their way into the communities of their chosen disciplines How for instance do students whose mother tongue is not the language of instruction cope with the demands of academic and discipline specific writing And in what ways is U S students development as academic writers similar to or different from that of students in other countries With this collection editors David Foster and David R Russell broaden the discussion about the role of writing in various educational systems and cultures Students development as academic writers raises issues of student authorship and agency as well as larger issues of educational access institutional power relations system goals and students roles in society

The contributors to this collection discuss selected writing purposes and forms characteristic of a specific national education system describe students agency as writers and identify contextual factors social economic linguistic cultural that shape institutional responses to writing development In discussions that bookend these studies of different educational structures the editors compare U S postsecondary writing practices and pedagogies with those in other national systems and suggest new perspectives for cross national study of learning writing issues important to all educational systems Given the worldwide increase in students entering higher education and the endless need for effective writing across disciplines and nations the insights offered here and the call for further studies are especially welcome and timely Building Academic Language Jeff Zwiers,2013-02-20 Many students ranging from native English speakers to recent immigrants need help in understanding and using the language of school Language is the lifeblood of learning in all content areas and it plays a major role in academic achievement Building Academic Language explains the functions and features of academic language that every teacher language arts history math science teachers etc should know for supporting academic reading writing and discussion The book includes research based instructional and assessment activities that content teachers can use to build students abilities to understand and describe the many abstract concepts higher order thinking skills and complex relationships in a discipline The book emphasizes an approach that builds from students existing ways of learning and communicating scaffolding them to think and talk as content area experts think and talk about math science history and language arts Major topics and themes include What is academic language and how does it differ by content area How can language building activities discussions small groups etc support content understanding How can we build language abilities for content reading and writing and vice versa How can we build on students diverse ways of understanding learning and communicating about the world How can we more effectively model and scaffold academic language in our teaching and assessment

Papers on Language and Culture: an African Perspective Mary Nyambura Muchiri,2009-05-19 Most of the papers reproduced here have either been presented at a national or international conference and some have been published elsewhere I have obtained permission to republish because I think it is important to have them all together The idea came to me when I was asked during an interview why I wrote on such different topics as part of my scholarship The question was based on the different publications in which the person asking had found them I had to explain that they are all on language and culture two areas that are closely interrelated It occurred to me that having all the papers published in one volume would help show how they relate to one another and thereby provide a more meaningful dialogue on the general topic I therefore hope that although each paper stands alone use of cross referencing will provide a cumulative effect that is impossible when the papers are read as separate publications The last chapter is not a paper in the traditional sense in that it is just a list of words However it adds to the readers understanding of the Kikuyu language The semantic domains are a people groups way of understanding categorizing and labeling the world around them I hope it will be especially important as a source for future scholars who will want to analyze the culture and thought processes of their ancestors Futuristic and Linguistic Perspectives on Teaching Writing to Second Language Students Hancı-Azizoglu, Eda Başak, Kavaklı, Nurdan, 2020-12-11 The aptitude to write well is increasingly becoming a vital element that students need to succeed in college and their future careers Students must be equipped with competent writing skills as colleges and jobs base the acceptance of students and workers on the quality of their writing This situation captures the complexity of the fact that writing represents higher intellectual skills and leads to a higher rate of selection Therefore it is imperative that best strategies for teaching writing speakers of other languages is imparted to provide insights to teachers who can better prepare their students for future accomplishments Futuristic and Linguistic Perspectives on Teaching Writing to Second Language Students examines the theoretical and practical implications that should be put in place for second language writers and offers critical futuristic and linguistic perspectives on teaching writing to speakers of other languages Highlighting such topics as EFL ESL composition digital storytelling and forming identity this book is ideal for second language teachers and writing instructors as well as academicians professionals researchers and students working in the field of language and linguistics How to Write and Publish a Scientific Paper Robert A. Sociolinguistic Perspectives : Papers on Language in Society, 1959-1994 Charles A. Ferguson Professor of Linguistics Stanford University (Emeritus), 1996-01-18 The work of the linguist Charles A Ferguson spans more than three decades and is remarkable for having been consistently at the forefront of scholarship on the relationship between language and society This volume collects his most influential and seminal papers each having expanded the parameters of sociolinguistics and the sociology of language Taken together they cover a wide range of topics and issues and more importantly reflect the intellectual progress of a founder of the sociolinguistic field The volume is divided thematically into four sections and an introduction by Thom Huebner outlines the evolution of Ferguson s ideas and the impact they have had on other scholars This book is essential reading for everyone interested in the field of sociolinguistics

A Pac-Man

Perspective on Organisational Change Petter Ogland, 2017-12 Living theory is a way of making use of personal accounts of experienced practice As the Pac Man perspective on organisational change helps the change agent articulate the personal values he is committed to and how these values may be resisted in practice living theory is useful for developing knowledge that has a practical impact on self improvement and social change but it is also a type of theory that is difficult to publish in academic outlets As a consequence of this publishing Pac Man living theory research becomes a Pac Man game in itself with the journal editors as one of the four adversary gatekeepers but it is a rewarding game for those who want to contribute both theoretically and practically on how to make the world a better place

The Pragmatics of Academic Writing Nicola T. Owtram, 2010 This volume investigates to what extent existing approaches to pragmatics and discourse shed light on how the form of a text creates stylistic effects Taking a cross cultural perspective this book focuses on five key stylistic features of writing paragraph structure length and construction of sentences organisation of information in sentences relative formality of vocabulary amount of nominalisation widely seen as partly responsible for the different impressions created by academic writing in English and Italian The author develops a theoretical framework for the investigation of intuitions about stylistic differences from a contrastive point of view To this end the book gives an overview of recent scholarly approaches to writing and reading genre studies contrastive rhetoric and the notions of style and stylistics together with an assessment of several individual approaches
