Remote Sensing of African Mountains Samuel Adelabu, Abel Ramoelo, Adeyemi Olusola, Efosa Adagbasa, 2022-08-30
This edited volume focuses on the use of remote sensing techniques to assess and monitor mountainous ecosystems in Africa with a focus on tracking changes related to climate change and human activity. The book is timely as the interaction of mountain environmental dynamics with conservation and sustainability is an under-researched issue. The chapters in this volume use remotely sensed data to study a variety of topics related to mountains and their ecosystems including but not limited to vegetation, energy systems, environmental hazards, ecosystem services, diseases, climatic shifts, geological formations, and geomorphological dynamics. The ability to monitor, assess, and analyze mountainous regions is aided by the availability of remote sensing products such as optical and microwave sensors and low-cost unmanned aerial vehicles (UAVs). The works presented here push the frontier of knowledge on mountain studies and will help shape local, national, and global assessments and policies, including efforts toward the achievement of the African Agenda 2063. The book will be of interest to researchers and students in remote sensing, geography, ecology, and sustainability, as well as to government organizations and conservation specialists.
