Christianity in China Archie R. Crouch, 1989 A bibliographical guide to the works in American libraries concerning the Christian missionary experience in China An Introduction to Daoist Philosophies Steve Coutinho, 2013-11-05 Steve Coutinho explores in detail the fundamental concepts of Daoist thought as represented in three early texts the Laozi the Zhuangzi and the Liezi Readers interested in philosophy yet unfamiliar with Daoism will gain a comprehensive understanding of these works from this analysis and readers fascinated by ancient China who also wish to grasp its philosophical foundations will appreciate the clarity and depth of Coutinho's explanations Coutinho writes a volume for all readers whether or not they have a background in philosophy or Chinese studies A work of comparative philosophy this volume also integrates the concepts and methods of contemporary philosophical discourse into a discussion of early Chinese thought The resulting dialogue relates ancient Chinese thought to contemporary philosophical issues and uses modern Western ideas and approaches to throw new interpretive light on classical texts Rather than function as historical curiosities these works act as living philosophies in conversation with contemporary thought and experience Coutinho respects the multiplicity of Daoist philosophies while also revealing a distinctive philosophical sensibility and he provides clear explanations of these complex texts without resorting to oversimplification

China Samuel Kidd,1841 The Making of a Savior Bodhisattva Shi Zhiru,2007-08-14 In modern Chinese Buddhism Dizang is especially popular as the sovereign of the underworld Often represented as a monk wearing a royal crown Dizang helps the deceased faithful navigate the complex underworld bureaucracy avert the punitive terrors of hell and arrive at the happy realm of rebirth The author is concerned with the formative period of this important Buddhist deity before his underworldly aspect eclipses his connections to other religious expressions and at a time when the art mythology practices and texts of his cult were still replete with possibilities She begins by problematizing the reigning model of Dizang one that proposes an evolution of gradual sinicization and increasing vulgarization of a relatively unknown Indian bodhisattva Ksitigarbha into a Chinese deity of the underworld Such a model the author argues obscures the many faceted personality and iconography of Dizang Rejecting it she deploys a broad array of materials art epigraphy ritual texts scripture and narrative literature to recomplexify Dizang and restore as much as possible from the fragmented historical sources what this figure meant to Chinese Buddhists from the sixth to tenth centuries Rather than privilege any one genre of evidence the author treats both material artifacts and literary works canonical and noncanonical sources Adopting an archaeological approach she excavates motifs from and finds resonances across disparate genres to paint a vibrant detailed picture of the medieval Dizang cult Through her analysis the cult far from being an isolated phenomenon is revealed as integrally woven into the entire fabric of Chinese Buddhism functioning as a kaleidoscopic lens encompassing a multivalent religio cultural assimilation that resists the usual bifurcation of doctrine and practice or elite and popular religion The Making of a Savior Bodhisattva presents a fascinating wealth of material on the personality iconography and lore associated with the medieval Dizang It elucidates the complex cultural religious and social forces shaping the florescence of this savior cult in Tang China while simultaneously addressing several broader theoretical issues that have preoccupied the field Zhiru not only questions the use of sinicization as a lens through which to view Chinese Buddhist history she also brings both canonical and noncanonical literature into dialogue with a body of archaeological remains that has been ignored in the study of East Asian Buddhism

L2 Dynamic Assessment Research in China Matthew E. Poehner, James P. Lantolf, 2025-06-24 Dynamic Assessment is an innovative approach to revealing the full range of learner abilities that has rapidly gained attention from language educators and researchers While much of the research to date has examined Dynamic Assessment in Western countries the research in this book further extends the framework by documenting its uses by Chinese scholars in meeting context specific challenges Dynamic Assessment or DA originated in the writings of Russian psychologist L S Vygotsky concerning the concept of the Zone of Proximal Development While many assessment approaches call for closer integration with teaching DA embeds an instructional component referred to as mediation as part of the assessment procedure Following Vygotsky the picture of a person's abilities is incomplete if focus is restricted to past development as diagnosed by what the person can achieve independently and without considering those abilities that are emerging as revealed through responsiveness to mediation In this way DA offers insights into learner abilities not easily obtained through other assessments Widely employed in special education and general abilities testing the second language field has witnessed a rapid growth of interest in using DA to better understand the full range of learner language abilities and to determine how instruction can optimally promote the development of all learners This book brings together a collection of original studies conducted by scholars in China that build upon methods and principles from previous DA research and that leverage them to meet local demands In so doing this research collectively illustrates the extension of DA into new cultural contexts while simultaneously yielding findings that are sure to resonate with language educators assessors and researchers around the world This book was originally published as a special issue of Language Assessment Quarterly The Journal of Asian Studies, 1993
