Questions of Order Peter Price, 2020-12-07 What happened on 1 July 1867 Over 150 years after Canadian Confederation it seems like a question with an obvious answer Questions of Order argues that Confederation was not just a political deal struck by politicians in 1867 but a process of reconfiguring political concepts and the basis of political association Breaking new ground Questions of Order argues that Confederation was an imperial event that generated new questions concerns and ideas about the future of political order in the British Empire and the world It traces how for many public writers in English Canada Confederation became an important basis for reimagining political order in the empire and redefining basic political concepts To some it marked a clear step in the larger project of imperial federation or even the ultimate union of the English speaking world For others however it represented the certain fragmentation of the empire into sovereign national states Set in the context of a time of enormous social and cultural change when so many long held assumptions and firmly believed truths were faltering in the wave of new scientific and philosophical beliefs the creation of Canada forced writers and public thinkers to grapple with the nature of political association and attempt to find new answers to critical questions of order

A History of Photography in Canada, Volume 1 Martha Langford, 2025-11-15 From early reports of the invention to its wide application during World War I the idea of photography created anticipation and participation in the modern world The first volume of A History of Photography in Canada captures this phenomenon by looking at hundreds of photographs generated in and about Canada in the making and by listening to the chords they struck in the collective imagination Emphasizing technological readiness and cultural eagerness for the medium Martha Langford shows how photography served ideals of progress and improvement as Canada's settler society looked to master the world by seizing its visible traces. The imposition of these programs on Indigenous Peoples and indentured labourers is confronted throughout this volume which offers both narratives and counternarratives of subjectification. Reproducing images of people, places, events and objects from the unceded territories of the First Nations, Inuit and Métis from British North America and from the Dominion of Canada and the Dominion of Newfoundland, Langford asks where and when photographs were taken, why and by whom. How did the making and preservation of a photograph alter the circumstances in which it was produced and how did this affect individual and collective consciousness? Alongside accomplished portraits, landscapes, still lifes and their vernacular counterparts, the book draws glimmers of photographic experience from treatises and doggerel, official reports and personal diaries, newspapers, magazines, letters and travelogues. Anticipation to Participation chronicles eight decades of reinvention and repurposing from a wondrous discovery to the wide adoption of a basic tool for knowledge gathering, artmaking and journaling. Langford's sweeping narrative rewrites the history of photography from the bottom up, vividly expanding the definition of photographic experience.

Globalisation and Multicultural Education Joseph Zajda, Suzanne Majhanovich, 2024-11-11. This book analyses dominant discourses of globalisation, multiculturalism and schooling. The chapters advance further the discussions on globalisation and its impact on cultural diversity and multiculturalism in a globalised world. Multicultural education as presented in this volume is seen in a broad context. It includes factors such as race, ethnicity, gender, socio-economic status, culture, age and physical ability, as well as a variety of beliefs and values. Zajda has argued that globalisation represents a synthesis of technology, ideology and organisation, specifically related to border crossings of people, global finance, trade, IT convergence, as well as cross-cultural communication. The reality of multiculturalism has been brought into stronger focus because of globalisation. Multiculturalism is more evident today because of globalisation. The book contributes in a very scholarly way to a more holistic understanding of the nexus between globalisation and dominant models of multicultural education and their impact on students' engagement and academic achievement.

A Written Constitution for Quebec? Richard Albert, Léonid Sirota, 2023-01-15. No province in Canada has codified a written constitution and whether Quebec should be the first remains a controversial question. A Written Constitution for Quebec enters into the debate, drawing a roadmap through the legal, political and constitutional terrain of the issue. Leading scholars each take their own position in the debate, examining the issue from various sides and exploring the forms and limits of a codified Quebec constitution by asking whether Quebec should adopt a written constitution, how the province might go about it and what such a document might achieve. Along with a comprehensive introduction to constitutional codification and how it relates to Quebec, the book opens with a proposal for a written constitution, with the analyses that follow expressing a diversity of views on the feasibility and desirability of a written constitution for the province. An array of perspectives through the lenses of Indigenous inclusion and reconciliation, interculturalism and democratic constitutionalism and insights from other federal and plurinational states.

are included in this wide ranging volume Taking a doctrinal historical theoretical and comparative approach A Written Constitution for Quebec extensively addresses Quebec s constitutional future in Canada
